NEW PLEAS MADE BY COAKLEY

Asks Change of Venue, Separate Trial and Postponement; Sugrue's Arrest Is Ordered

A change of venue, a separate trial and a continuance were asked today in Middlesex Superior Court in three motions filed by counsel for Daniel H. Coakley, under indictment with William J. Corcoran and Daniel H. Sugrue for alleged conspiracy.

In addition Attorney William E. Weeks for Corcoran filed a motion that some other justice than Judge Whiting preside over the forthcoming hearing as effecting Corcoran who was recently found guilty and sentenced in the conspiracy case in Judge Whiting's session of Middlesex Superior court.

Judge Fosdick, sitting in another session of the court, denied this motion after argument by Attorney Weeks.

The motions for change of venue and continuance were denied by Judge Whiting, who said he would decide later regarding separate trials.

Sugrue was not in court, although the trial was set for today. Judge Whiting ordered a capias to issue for Sugrue's arrest.

Sugrue was formerly an associate in Mr. Coakley's office.

It was said by counsel last week that Sugrue was in Canada but would be on hand for opening of the trial today.

In a motion for change of venue for Coakley, Attorney Taft asserted that the former lawyer would be unable to obtain a fair trial in Middlesex county.

The same ground was given in the motion for separate trial.

The motion added that the suppos

Dempsey 'Adopts' 50 Orphans; Starts 'em With Bank Book

Los Angeles, May 19.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, has "adopted" fifty children from a los Angeles orphanage and his started a bank account for each.

He says that every year he will add a fixed sum to what the boys have banked.

3 FISHERS BLOW OUT TO SEA

When they had not returned today the police of Peabody and Danversville and coast guard stations on the North coast were asked to aid in a hunt for them. John Garganhiano of Tremont street, Peabody, headed the party of fishermen. With him went two friends whose identity is not known.

They left Danvernort at 6 a. m. Sunday, intending to fish off Baker's Island, and were due back at 6 p. m. When they had not returned by today, John Angano of No. 11 Walnut street, Peabody, a friend of Gargahiano, became alarmed and notified the police and coast guard stations.

COSTS R. R.s 85 P.C. OF EARNINGS, SAYS DUNN

New York, May 19. (N.I.S.)—A concerted and determined effort to "make America safe for prosperity" was initiated today, at the Waldorf Astoria hotel. It is the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers. The delegates emphasized that "Business" should be carefully considered by the National political conventions and that planks should be inserted in the platforms to protect American industry.

Urging a defeat of the Howell-Barkley Railroad Bill, which is before Congress, Samuel O. Dunn, editor of the "Railway Age," said it cost the railroads 85 cents out of every dollar they earned in 1923 to pay their operating expenses and taxes.

WATCHMAN CLUBBED BY 'SILK' BANDITS

Pawtucket, R. I., May 19—Two unidentified men clubbed William Lenihan, watchman of the Harnger Silk Mills, into an unconscious condition and stole silk goods valued at $4,000 from the stock room of the York Avenue mills shortly before daybreak.

LIFE TERM FOR WIFE SLAYER

Sullivan, Who Shot His Mate While the Stork Hovered, Pleads Guilty to Murder

An ending to a case that has attracted wide interest, came with a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree by Lawrence J. Sullivan, twenty-three years old, in Middlesex Superior Court today.

Sullivan had previously entered a plea of not guilty to killing his wife. The plea was accepted and he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The events leading up to today's court hearing reveal a wonderful fight for two lives. Mrs. Sullivan's and her baby's. She won the fight, but only for a short respite. Death was not to be denied and finally claimed her for his own.

Sullivan is a veteran of the Canadian war forces. His marriage was the result of a war romance. Coming to the United States shortly after their marriage Sullivan and his wife settled in Cambridge.

SHOT THREE TIMES.

Two children were born to them. Then came discord. Finally Mrs. Sullivan filed suit for divorce, charging cruel and abusive treatment and threats to kill.

October 7, 1923, the day before the divorce case was to be heard, Sullivan walked into his wife's house at No. 35 Banks street, Cambridge, whither she had gone following filing of her divorce action.

A quarrel ensued and Sullivan whipped out a revolver, firing three shots into her. One entered the back of her neck, turning her completely around and two entered her breast. The bullet in the neck severed the spinal cord.

Sullivan was arrested and Mrs. Sullivan was rushed to the hospital where it was found that she was paralyzed from the neck down. It was then revealed that she was awaiting a visit of the stork.

NATURE SURPRISES.

Physicians and specialists from all over the country became interested in the case. All agreed that if an operation was performed the child might live, but the mother would die.

They agreed that the child could not be born alive in any other manner, but aNture proved to the contrary while medical men were trying to decide what to do and the child was born November 30, 1923, a healthy 4½-pound baby, and the mother recovered.

Contracting scarlet fever afterwards, Mrs. Sullivan was rushed to the Contagious Hospital in Boston, dying January 2 of this year.

The baby is still living, a robust youngster, the mothers' parents looking out for it.

DIXMUDE FAREWELL NOTE FOUND AT SEA

3 FAMILIES ADRIFT ARE RESCUED

Launch Is Taken in Tow by Schooner After a Night in Boat in Nantasket Bay

Three South Shore families, which included nine children, narrowly escaped death today while attempting to make their way from Nantasket Beach to King Cove, Whitman, in a thirty-seven-foot motor launch.

In the boat were:

Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Landers, Main street, Hanover, and their five children, the oldest, eight.
Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Jones and one son, Main street, Hanover.

The cruise began Sunday afternoon and was completed at daylight today when the boat was towed from Nantasket bay to T. Wharf, by a fishing schooner.

Mr Landers told the captain of the schoner that he invited the others for a pleasure trip along the South Shore. The party started from King's Cove.

They visited Houghs Neck, Crow Point and Nantasket, starting for home early in the evening.

When they arrived about a mile off Nantasket a squall struck the boat.

Landers attempted to reach Hull, but his motor became crippled and the launch drifted toward Hull Gut. After working desperately for several hours he managed to work the boat into Nantasket Bay, where it drifted about more than nine hours. The party was finally picked up by the schooner.

PHOTO'S ORIGINAL NOT WOMAN ROBBED

Through an error a photograph of Miss Marty Dupree, musical comedy actress, was published in some editions of the Boston American Saturday for that of Edna Leader Johnson, former cabaret singer, who was strangled and robbed of $9,000 in jewels in New York.

The American takes this opportunity to correct the error and to state that Miss Dupree was in no way concerned in the New York affair. Miss Dupree and her musical comedy follies are playing at the Somerville Theatre this week.

COOLIDGE CHANGED HIS MIND

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE HOUSE BOSTON

3d July, 1919.

Mr. Kenneth Macdonald, Jr.,
17 Capen Street,
Dorchester, Mass.

Dear Mr. Macdonald:

I take great pleasure in handing you herewith a quill with which I have today signed an Act "To provide suitable recognition of those residents of Massachusetts who served in the army and navy of the United States during the war with Germany".

Very truly yours,

Calvin Coolidge

FACSIMILE OF COOLIDGE LETTER TO LEGION HEAD

Kenneth Macdonald (insert) attacks President Coolidge's veto of the bonus bill as inconsistent with Mr. Coolidge's action when as Governor of Massachusetts he gladly signed a bill giving the Bay State soldiers $100. The then Governor Coolidge presented to Mr. Macdonald the quill with which he signed the measure. Above is the facsimile of the Coolidge letter, along with the quill which the recipient thereof at the time believed was of unusual historical value.

INJURED AIR PILOT'S FAMILY AT BEDSIDE

Mitchel Field, N. Y., May 19. (I.N.S.)—A. M. Backstrom of Somerville, Mass., pilot of the passenger airplane which crashed here yesterday was still in a critical condition today. He has a fractured skull and broken breast bone and his chance of recovery was said to be slight. His wife and 3-year-old son, his mother, Mrs. Sophie Backstrom of Cambridge and a sister, Mrs. John Lunney of Montclair, N. J., were at his bedside today. Pilots here said the accident was caused by Backstrom's haste to finish up his day's flying and his making too sharp a turn, causing the plane to sideslip.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE IS BACK ON JOB

Washington, May 19.—President Coolidge was so far recovered from his heavy cold, contracted last week, that he resumed his desk in the executive offices today and fulfilled engagements.

"Very few traces of the President's cold remain," said Dr. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, "and he has no cough."

SUMMONS SEVEN TO PARLEY

Five of the "Doubtfuls" Will Vote for Bill; Two Waver Toward the Veto

Washington, May 19.—President Coolidge set out in earnest today to swing the Senate tide in favor of sustaining his veto of the soldiers' bonus bill.

Bringing the weight of his personal influence to bear on "doubtful" Senators, the President had as his breakfast guests at the White House this morning seven Republican Senators whose commitments in favor of the Bonus are said to be irrevocable.

They were: Harreld, of Oklahoma; Phipps, of Colorado; Sterling, of So. Dakota; McKinley, of Illinois; Cameron of Arizona; Dale of Vermont and Keyes of New Hampshire.

It was Senator Harreld's vote, reversed at the last moment after the roll call had been completed, that sustained the President's Veto of the Burosm Pension Bill by the Narrow margin of a single vote last week.

CLASSED AS "WAVERING."

All the Senators who were summoned to the White House breakfast table voted for the Bonus on its initial passage, and all of them have been accounted by friends of the Bonus as in favor of it over the Veto although some have been classed as "wavering."

They voted for the original Bonus Bill a year ago, but switched and voted against it after it had been vetoed by President Harding.

CAMPAIGN PLEDGES.

Senator Harreld ventured the opinion that "No votes have been changed by the breakfast conference," but did not say how he would vote.

Following the departure of the seven guests, Senator Smoot, of Utah,

COOLIDGE FAILS TO TURN FIVE OF THE "DOUBTFUL" SENATORS

CALLS SEVEN TO BREAKFAST AT WHITE HOUSE TO SWAY VOTES ON BONUS

and Senator Kendrick of Wyoming called on the President.

Smoot said he believed the President's Veto would be overridden "by a couple of votes."

"We discussed Bonus and Taxation," said Senator Sterling of South Dakota.

Some of the President's guests at breakfast were understood to have informed him that they would like to sustain the veto but were bound by pledges given at the time they were elected to the Senate and felt themselves bound to respect these promises.

FIGHT TO POSTPONE.

Senator Cameron told newspapermen after the White House conference he had "not made up his mind yet."

Senator Keyes refused to discuss the conference.

At noon it appeared problematical whether the Senate would vote today on the question of overriding.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, intended making a motion at 2 p. m., to vote, but Senator Reed of Pennsylvania planned to object and suggest the vote be postponed until next Monday.

The general impression given after the conference was that five of the seven Senators present would certainly vote for the bill. Senators Cameron and Phipps, it was learned, were considering the possibility of failing to sustain the Veto but no real assurances were given to the President.

REMINDED OF 1910.

After returning to the Capitol from the White House, Senators Harreld and Dale informed newspapermen they would vote to override the President's veto.

Their votes, they said, were unchanged by the President's argument against the bonus at the breakfast.

Senator David Elkins of West Virginia, who had been classed as "doubtful" on the veto today, stated he would vote to override the veto.

New York Legion Chief Scores Wall St. Selfishness

"That same sort of a howl is being set up by Wall Street relative to adjusted compensation that they have set up in all instances in which their own personal pride was offended," he said.

"They have run their own affairs and the affairs of the nation in such a high-minded manner and have met with such success that they are now squealing like stuffed pigs.

"Every nation associated with us in the World War has paid adjusted compensation to its service men, and it cannot be said that these prominent men and the soldiers of our allies sought to capitalize patriotism."

Bonus Attack Called "Dastardly Conspiracy"

New York, May 19 (Universal)—Passage of the Bonus bill by the Senate over the veto of President Coolidge was demanded in a shower of telegrams sent by New York patriotic organizations to Senators, they announced today. Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York, Senator Royal S. Copeland is already a staunch supporter of the measure.

In resolutions adopted by the Brooklyn Council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Senator Wadsworth was called upon to vote for the bonus. He was told that Brooklyn already has gone on record twice, by a vote of two to one, for the bonus and he was warned that "Brooklyn also defeated all Congressmen who voted against the measure."

The massed telegraphic attack of Wall Street bankers and brokers against the bonus was denounced as "a dastardly conspiracy" by William Tapley, Department Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

SAYS HE HAS SECRET OF STRADIVARIUS

Berlin, May 19.—Manufacturers may soon be turning out Stradivarius violins by the dozen at no increase in cost, according to Max Moeckel, famous Berlin violin maker. He claims German makers have discovered the secret of the old Italian master, all records of which the latter ordered burned at his death. Moeckel declares shape and varnish created the superior tones of the instruments. The secret of the varnish was discovered twenty years ago, he added.

Present Bonus Bill Passed by Senate 67 to 17

Washington, May 19.—The Senate upheld President Harding's veto of the Soldier Bonus bill in 1922 by a vote of 44 to 28, four less than the required two thirds majority. Twenty-four of the Senators who then voted against the bill or were paired against it are present in Congress now.

The present bill passed the Senate recently by a vote of 67 to 17. The veto of President Coolidge was overridden by the House Saturday, 313 to 78, or 52 votes more than the required majority.

Bonus bill in 1919.

The President is said to have observed this was "during the war period" and that conditions "have now changed."

"Well, I'm committed to it, and I'll keep my promise," the Senator said.

WINS STERLING.

Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin returned to the Capitol after a two months' absence and announced he would vote for the bonus. He had been listed as among the probable Senators who would be absent on the test.

The President, it is understood, succeeded in winning over one Senator, Sterling of South Dakota. After returning to the Capital, Sterling is reported to have told colleagues he would vote to sustain the President.

Senator David Elkins of West Virginia, who had been classed as "doubtful" on the veto today, stated he would vote to override the veto.

New England Veterans' Leaders Demand Passage of Bonus

Protests Pour in, Protesting President's Action and Urging Senators to Override It

Statements of protest are pouring into the American office protesting against the veto and urging the United States Senate to pass the bill over the veto by a majority as substantial as the House vote.

The President is taken to task for his veto, as President, of a principle he endorsed when, as Governor of Massachusetts, he signed the soldiers' State compensation bill.

KENNETH C. MACDONALD, JR., vice commander of the Suffolk County Council, American Legion, and staunch supporter of the bonus bill, is in possession of a letter written by Calvin Coolidge when he was Governor of Massachusetts, in which he presents Mr. Macdonald with the quill he used in signing the State Soldier Bonus Bill in 1919.

The letter is dated July 3, 1919, and reads:

"Dear Mr. Macdonald—I take great pleasure in handing you herewith a quill with which I have today signed an act 'to provide suitable recognition of those residents of Massachusetts who served in the army and navy of the United States during the war with Germany.'" Very truly yours,

"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Mr. Macdonald, in a statement, said: "I received this letter and the quill, as a sort of a reward for my activities in having the $100 bonus bill reported out of the Ways and Means committee at the State House, and for two demonstrations made at the State House by the service men organized by me, when the bill was being considered by the Legislature.

Mayor Quinn J. T. Duane

The $100 bonus bill, as signed by Governor Cooliddge, awarded $100 to every Massachusetts soldier.

Herewith are presented views of many leading citizens of Greater Boston, all of whom delare that the bonus is something which has been honorably earned by the boys who fought to defend their country's honor:

EDWARD H. EWING, Stoughton Legion Post—In the veto message of the adjusted compensation bill, we resent the statement or inference made that the insurance now carried and paid for by the soldiers themselves is a "consideration" from the government. We also call attention to the fact that patriotic citizens who bought Liberty bonds are being paid A cash bonus annually for this service.

MAYOR CHISHOLM, Everett—I have always contended that the men who sacrificed their home life to fight for their country should be substantially rewarded for their service. I want to go on record as a booster for those who fought during the war and the more they get in the form of a bonus the more it will please me.

LEO HARLOW, acting commander of the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion—Adjusted compensation is the only method of requiring the service men for the economic penalty imposed on them by service. Their compensation remained fixed and their family allotments were not increased despite the trebling of civilian wages and the increase of living costs.

EDWARD W. QUINN, mayor of Cambridge—I am absolutely in favor of a bonus. I think it is a splendid thing to remember the boys in some way for the services they rendered. The overwhelming vote for the measure in Congress exemplifies the sentiment of this country. Senators and Representatives, regardless of party affiliations have voted for the bill. There is a general feeling throughout the country that the boys should be rewarded in some way. How, is another matter.

JAMES T. DUANE, former Commander of State Legion—I am sorry that President Coolidge felt it his duty to veto the Adjusted Compensation Bill. Although I have no grievance against any person who has an honest feeling against the Adjusted Compensation Bill, still I honestly believe it should be passed. The veterans certainly do appreciate the great fight that Mr. Hoard and his papers have waged on their behalf, and he deserves to win that fight. I cordially feel it is an absolutely just measure, and I hope it will become a law.

JOHN V. KIMBALL, Mayor of Malden.—I have always claimed that the soldiers should be awarded a bonus for their part in the war. When these boys were taken away from their homes and sent to fight for their country all kinds of promises were made to them. None of these promises have been fulfilled as yet. Now that the opportunity to reward the boys for their part in the war has arrived I say that something should be done now. Those promises that we made when the boys went away must be fulfilled.

LEO A. SPILLANE, Adjutant of State Legion—It is of particular significance that President Coolidge was Governor of Massachusetts when the legislature of that State passed a bill giving a gratuity to veterans of the World War, and that as Governor he signed that bill. His present attitude on the national bill apparently indicates a chance of mind and an inconsistency of which from past experience I should hardly believe him capable. The justice of our cause is indisputable and no logical argument can be put forth against it. I feel that despite the veto of the President, the Adjusted Compensation bill should be passed.

L. A. Spillane Mayor Kimball

COMMANDER JOSEPH M. CARNEY of Bunker Hill Post, No. 28, of Somerville—The present bonus bill is not what we want, but it is a step in the right direction and the bill should certainly be passed over the veto of the President.

JOHN J. MURPHY, prominent Democratic leader of Somerville—The veterans of the World War went into the service for $1 a day and the difference between that amount and what the soldiers could have earned in civil life was nothing more than a tax on the soldiers. In addition they had to do the fighting. The men who served in the army and navy should certainly be reimbursed for an unjust tax that was placed on them.

EUGENE W. DRISCOLL, Commander of the George Hilbur Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Somerville—Congress should enact the bonus bill over the President's veto by a large majority. The men who were in the service are certainly entitled to something. That is the near-at approach they have ever made toward getting anything and the law should be forced through.

Propaganda Will Change Few Votes, Says Senator Norris

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, in a statement to Universal Service, declared:

"I have no doubt the Senate is going to override the President's veto of the adjusted compensation bill. The flood of propaganda inspired by Wall Street, now being aimed at Senators, will change few if any votes.

"The foolish claim is made that if we pass the adjusted compensation bill it would be a violation of patriotism. The fact is that the theory back of the bill is to partially compensate the ex-service men for the financial losses sustained by going to war to fight for their country.

"It is not in any sense a payment for a patriotic duty. Boys who stayed at home received much more money for their work than did the boys who shouldered a gun and went to the front line trenches.

"It seems to me that we honestly owe these boys extra compensation for the losses they sustained. We have already made adjusted compensation to the railroads, to the extent of $600,000,000 and have paid millions, nay billions, to war profiteers and rich magnates because the war came to a close before they had completed their contracts.

"In view of those facts to charge that to adjust the pay of the ex-service men is a misuse of patriotism is to my mind silly."

CHARGES TOWN FUNDS ARE WITHHELD

Sanford, Me., May 19.—Charge that Frank W. McCann, town clerk and tax collector has failed to pay over to the town treasurer interest money on taxes, were made today in an article in the Sanford Tribune-Advocate.

McCann, supported by the Ku Klux Klan during the last election, denied the charges, but stated he would take no action.

According to the Tribune-Advocate, McCann, in addition to failing to pay over several hundred dollars in interest money, put out just $63 according to the town law which requires him to make daily report on the activities of his office, to the treasurer.

It is declared that McCann made no report from January 21 to May 14. The penalty is $3 a day for each day the report is not filed.

U. S. WORLD FLIERS AT YETORUFU

It is the aim of the aviators to fly every day now until the journey is completed. Today or tomorrow they expect to jump off for Minato. There a great welcome awaits them.

4,500,000 NOW ON ROLL OF A. F. OF L.

Atlantic City, May 19.—The American Federation of Labor has gained 1,180,000 in membership during the last five and a half months, according to Samuel Gompers, president of the federation. This increase brings the total membership to 4,500,000, the labor chief declared.

CHIEF INDUSTRY OF MAINE TOWN BURNED

North Berwick, Me., May 19.—The principal industry of North Berwick was destroyed by fire, with a loss of $200,000. It was the box manufacturing plant of the J. H. Dunning Corporation, with headquarters in New York city.

U. S. FLIERS HOP 510 MILES IN 7 HOURS

Three U. S. Planes Land at Yetorofu Island, Kuriles; Conditions Good

Yetorofu Island, Kurfles, May 19.—The three American Army airplanes flying around the world landed here today, having made the 510-mile flight from Paramishiru Island in a little over seven hours.

The landing was made on Lake Toshimoya. This is in the rear of Hitokappu Bay, an indentation on the southeast shore of this island. A landing place on the lake was prepared by Japanese and American sailors from the destroyers Pope and Amatsukaze several days ago, when it was determined that Hitokappu Bay was too rough.

Conditions Ideal for U. S. Fliers

Tokio, May 19.—The flight from Paramashiru Bay to Lake Toshimoya was made under ideal conditions, dispatches say. The Navy Department issued an official announcement of the fliers' arrival on Yetorofu Island.

The fliers will be received in audience by the Prince Regent soon after their arrival at Kamumigaura, the Japanese naval base. American Ambassador Woods conferred with cabinet officers on arrangements for the audience.

American and Japanese army and naval officers here, who have been in closest contact with arrangements for the round-the-world flight believe the American aviators will make a determined effort to fly every day until they reach Kasumigaura. They believe the Americans may reach that point, which is a scheduled stop, by Wednesday afternoon.

Indications are that there will be at least one more fair day in the bleak region north of Japan proper. If so, the fliers probably could reach Aomori, on the northern end of Hondo Island, the main island of Japan, tomorrow. They then would be within striking distance of the aviation base.

Flight Commander Commends Jap Aid

Bremerton, Wash., May 19. (A.P.) Official messages from Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, in command of the Army Airplane Squadron on the World Encircling Trip, tell of the cordial reception given the flyers by the Japanese at Paramashiru Island, Kuriles, and commend the accuracy of the weather forecasts by which their movements since leaving Unalaska have been guided.

ESSEX GRAND JURY MAY REPORT TODAY

Newburyport, May 19.—The Essex County Grand Jury is expected to report about a dozen true bills today. Court will sit this week.

The jury has reported 160 true bills, fifteen of which were secret. Twelve no bills were returned. Three indictments were obtained by the Newburyport officers. One charges Clifford Thompson, Doris Thompson and William J. Booth, alleged members of a gang of auto thieves, with the theft of a car belonging to William C. Fisher of this city.

Another charges John Dagres and Angelo Dagres with perjury, concerning the damage done by a fire on their premises. The third Newburyport indictment charges Frank Markoupolos with burning a building to defraud.

MAN STABBED IN ROW OVER DINNER

A dispute over payment for a Sunday chicken dinner resulted in the stabbing of Alphonso Inzi, twenty-five years old, of No. 24 Barton street, and the arrest of his step-father, Amazo Sanvullo, forty, of the same address.

Inzi was removed to the Relief Station suffering from stab wounds of the head and nose.

First Across Pacific, Weeks Sends Fliers Congratulations

Washington, May 19.—A cablegram to the members of the army round-the-world flight squadron signed by Secretary Weeks, congratulating them on the successful crossing from Alaska to Japan, were made public today.

Weeks' message said:

"Congratulations. Yours is the honor of being the first to cross the Pacific by air. Through its army and navy our country has the honor of having led in the crossing of both great oceans. The army has every faith in your ability to add the circumnavigation of the globe to its achievements."

TOPCOATS STILL NEEDED; COOL TONIGHT

Rain Prophesied for Boston for Tomorrow, While It Is Snowing in Michigan

Don't discard the top coat yet. It's still a little bit cool for shirtsleeves, but we may sympathize with the farmers just to the north and west of us. Just as a reminder that summer is not officially scheduled until June 21, Jack Frost left a nice white calling card on farms along the border.

A fresh breeze was blowing in Boston today which the weather man measured at 25 miles per hour. The sun, however, at 3 a. m. had pushed the thermometer up to 57 degrees and at noon it was real summerish at 63 degrees, and still going up.

Carry an umbrella tomorrow. The rainmaker threatens to be on the job.

It threatens cool tonight, but way out in St. Louis the weather is several degrees cooler than we are having here.

Snow was falling in southern Michigan today, with the temperatures near freezing in several places. The snow was light and melted quickly. Crop damage thus far had been slight.

COAKLEY TRIAL

tion was that Corcoran's confession introduced in his previous trial, might be introduced by the District Attorney in the present trial.

Heedful of the charge made last week by defendants' counsel that District Attorney Arthur K. Reading was guilty of impropriety in the Grand Jury room, pertaining the returning of the indictments, Judge Whiting asked any of the grand jurors who might be present to report to the bench.

WOMAN'S DEATH IS PROBED BY POLICE

Lawrence, May 19.—An investigation is being conducted by the police into the death of Mrs. Bridget Sheard, 280 Farnham street, who died, Medical Examiner Victor A. Redfern states, as a result of illegal surgery.

Edward Sweeney, 52 Osgood street, was before Judge Jeremiah J. Mahoney in District Court and was held as an accessory.

It is charged that Sweeney called in a physician Saturday and asked that she be treated for a strain. Sweeney told the police he was asked to call a doctor when he woke in the morning found she was dead.

COOLIDGE ADVISERS TO SEE PRESIDENT

Washington, May 17 (By Universal).—President Coolidge's political advisors, headed by William M. Butler, slated for the chairmanship of the incoming Republican National Committee, take counsel with their chief today. Only three weeks remain before the opening of the national convention at Cleveland.

Among the leading possibilities for the vice-presidential nomination on the G. O. P. ticket are Albert J. Beveridge, Charles G. Dawes and former Senator Kenyon, in the order named.

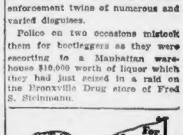
M. A. C. PROFESSOR TO GO TO MICHIGAN

Amherst, May 19.—Professor John Phelan, director of short courses and head of the department of rural ecology at the Massachusetts Agricultural College, has resigned that post and will, on September 1, to the Michigan Agricultural College as head of the department of rural education and assistant to President Kenyon L. Butterfield, whose resignation from "Aggie" to become head of the Michigan college was tendered to the trustees here last Friday.

'IZZY' TWICE TAKEN FOR BOOTLEGGER

New York, May 19.—Add one to the already long list of trades and professions attributed to "Izzy" Einstein and "Moe" Smith, prohibition enforcement twins of numerous and varied disguises.

Police on two occasions mistook them for bootleggers as they were escorting to a Manhattan warehouse $10,000 worth of liquor which they had just seized in a raid on the Pronsville Drug store of Fred S. Steinmann.



VERONAL, NOT ACCIDENT, KILLED W. C. DEERING, SAYS CORONER

LOVE SUIT IN FINAL CHAPTER

Wealthy Clubman Recently Faced $50,000 Heart Balm Action by Marguerite Curl

Chicago, May 19.—An aviation accident, a breach of promise suit by a pretty woman and veronal contributed the high spots in the last six months of Charles W. C. Deering's life.

Today Coroner T. E. R. W. Leland of San Francisco announced that veronal poisoning killed Deering, sharer in the $75,000,000 fortune left by his grandfather, a pioneer Chicagoan.

Deering was buried Saturday in San Francisco. It was believed that an aviation accident in San Francisco last November was responsible for his death. The coroner's report, following a chemical analysis of vital organs, disposes this theory, however.

The wealthy Chicagoan a month ago was sued for $50,000 by Mrs. Marguerite Curl, who alleged Deering had asked her to marry him in March, 1923.

"Charles has made fools of enough women," she is quoted as declaring grimly. "It's time somebody taught him a lesson."

The case is understood to have been settled out of court for $10,000.

Deering was divorced a short time before filing of the suit, by Mary Bartlett Deering, daughter of William B. Bartlett of Chicago.

He was the grandson of William Deering and the son of Charles Deering, present head of the family, who maintains homes in New York and Miami, Fla. A sister is Mrs. Chauncey McCormick of Chicago.

As a result of the veronal report, an investigation of circumstances surrounding Deering's death will be instituted, it is understood. Three bottles that had contained veronal were found in his rooms after the body was discovered.

SOUGHT HEART BALM FROM W. C. DEERING

MRS. MARGUERITE CURL

Her $50,000 suit for breach of promise about month ago against wealthy San Francisco clubman, one of high lights in last six months of his life, which was ended by veronal, in opinion of coroner. Love suit said to have been settled for $10,000 recently.

MOVIE DIRECTOR TO BE OPERATED ON

Hollywood, Calif., May 19.—Marshall Neilan, motion picture director, has been ordered to Loreto by his physician to undergo an operation on his stomach.

The director will be accompanied by his wife, Blanche Sweet. After the operation they will go Marshall Neilan to Southern Europe, where Neilan hopes to recover his health. They will sail in about two weeks.

'BLACKJACK', FAMOUS IVORY CARVER, DIES

"Blackjack," thirty-six years, was famed throughout the Northland as a hunter and as a carver of walrus ivory. His first wife was Ada Blackjack, sole survivor of the ill-fated Stephanson expedition to Wrangell Island.

Two hours after "Blackjack" died, a son was born to his second wife, Mabel Blackjack.

FORD AND RUTH HOMES IN PATH OF FLAMES

Marlboro, May 19.—Henry Ford's Wayside Inn, and "Babe" Ruth's farmhouse today were again threatened by a renewal of the fire which burned over 2000 acres of woodland and was stopped after many thousands of dollars damage had been done and one man injured. The wind today fanned hot embers into flames.

A pile of lumber valued at $20,000 was in the path of today's flames and apparatus from surrounding towns was summoned. Deputy Fire Warden John Crowe of Westboro and a corps of state forestry men helped the local fighters.

Employes of Col. Thomas S. Bradlee of Sudbury discovered the fire and fought it unaided for hours.

HERRIOT SEES NO CUT IN MILITARY OUTLAY

Paris, May 19.—Edouard Herriot, to whom all indications point as the next Premier, is becoming more expansive in his declarations, without, however, leaving the realm of generalities.

"Foreign policy is the essential thing," he is quoted as saying to the foreign editor of Le Matin. "There can be no question of reducing our military financial burden until France has been put at her ease in relation to Europe."

There was no reason, he said, why the recovery of the French debts could not be associated with the pacification of Europe and peace of the world.

HURLS MILK BOTTLES TO WARN OF FIRE

New York, May 19.—In a fire of suspicious origin, which damaged a dwelling in Bensonhurst today fifteen persons were saved by a taxicab chauffeur who roused them by throwing milk bottles through the windows of the house after his shouts had no effect. Previously he had sounded an alarm. Investigation showed the rear part of the two and a half story house had been soaked with gasoline.

JAPAN IMPORTS FRENCH GLIDER

Tokio, May 19 (A. P.)—A 13-meter glider is to be imported from France by the aviation experimental bureau of the Imperial University. A French expert will accompany the machine and instruct Japanese airmen in its navigation.

EVERETT CLUB HELD UP BY GUNMEN

Four masked auto gunmen held up twenty members in the Chestnut Club on Third street, Everett.

The bandits ordered their victims to line up and rifled their pockets of money and jewelry valued at $500.

A moment later the whirr of an automobile motor could be heard outside the club and the four masked men were soon speeding away in a cloud of dust.

When informed of the daring robbery, the Everett police in addition to starting a search for the bandits, laid plans for guarding against their reappearance, in view of the fact that within twenty-four hours before the holdup of the club two Everett men had been robbed and a payroll robbery had been attempted in Chelsea.

George Goodwin of Cross street, Everett, a member was seated on the clubhouse steps, gazing unconcernedly at the full moon, when the bandits first made their appearance. Two of them suddenly interrupted his reverie with wicked-looking automatics and forced him to back into the club.

As the bandits faced the other startled club members the other two robbers burst in from another door and soon the twenty club members were lined up against a wall. Then one of the bandits passed along the line and relieved the victims of money, watches, rings and other valuables, which he deposited in a small cloth bag.

Has Horror of Wealth; Nash Wants to Get Rid of $1,000,000

Cincinnati, O., May 19 (I.N.S.).—Arthur ("Golden Rule") Nash, president of the A. Nash Company here, wants someone to tell him how he can spend a million dollars most judiciously and in a manner giving the greatest benefit to mankind. He does not want to grow wealthy because, he says, "I have seen too many crimes committed under the protection of wealth."

Five years ago, Mr. Nash said, he foresaw that he was doomed to become a rich man, so he distributed a large part of his stock of his clothing manufacturing company among his employes.

The capital stock of the company, now $1,000,000, will be increased, Mr. Nash said, to $3,000,000 by stock dividends. He is seeking to rid himself of the million dollars which he thus will gain.

BOOTLEGS SOUGHT IN R.I. DEATH

Athlete "Chisel" Boyle Believed Slain Because He "Knew Too Much"

Providence, May 19.—Charles E. (Chisel) Boyle, football star whose bullet-riddled body was found in "Bootleggers' lane" a country hill road south of Wickford, was found murdered because he "knew too much."

A round-up of all known bootleggers and illicit liquor handlers begun today indicates that this is the police belief.

While Medical Examiner P. J. Manning of Wickford and William McGill of Providence were performing an autopsy, the wife of the murdered athlete furnished the police with a list of friends declared to have offered Boyle opportunities to run rum.

Medical Examiner Manning, prior to his autopsy, declared that Boyle was facing the death weapon when he was shot and was shot while outside the automobile in which he is believed to have been transported to the lane.

Bootlegging and rum-running constitute a well established industry in Rhode Island.

Boyle, according to a close friend, knew many of the bootlegging gentry and had been invited to go on rum-running trips.

MANY GUN BATTLES.

He was hard pressed for money. His odd jobs were precarious and not very lucrative. One of his children is ill, with scarlet fever and doctors' bills were piling up.

These facts are being given great consideration by the police in their hunt for the athlete's slayer or slayers, who left his body lying beside the Annaquatucket road, a thorough fare used by rum runners because it detours around Wickford on the run from Narragansett Bay up to Providence.

Rum runners and hi-jacks have staged many furious gun battles in this secluded back road and it is believed a number of casualties have resulted. Boyle, it is also thought, may have become involved in one of these battles.

CARTRIDGES IN POCKET.

Boyle left his home Saturday evening, telling his wife he had an appointment with Leslie Tobin, an acquaintance. It is believed he left in an automobile, but the police have been unable to definitely check his movements.

To add to the mystery is the fact that a box of revolver cartridges was found in Boyle's pocket. He did not carry a revolver, according to his wife.

SMITH NEAR COLLAPSE ON MOTHER'S DEATH

New York, May 19. (I.N.S.)—Tentative arrangements for the funeral of Mrs. Catherine Mulvehll Smith, 73, mother of Governor Alfred E. Smith, who died after a ten-days' illness from pneumonia, were today set for Wednesday morning, at the Roman Catholic Church of the Assumption, Brooklyn.

Governor Smith, who was summoned from Absecon, N. J., when the aged patient took a sudden turn for the worse after she had been apparently convalescing, was near a state of collapse today. He denied himself to all callers.

Assured his mother was on the road to recovery, he had left her bedside, where he had kept a week's vigil, and had gone to the resort for a much needed rest.

NARROW GAUGE TRAIN DERAILED, NONE HURT

Running into an open switch, the engine and one car of a Boston bound Winthrop train, on the Narrow Gauge railroad, were derailed at the Pleasant street crossover, between Battery and Bursils stations. It is said the signal was clear. No one was hurt and traffic was held

PARENTS TO GO ON TOUR WITH BRIDE

Everett Couple Will Accompany Honeymooners on Motor Trip to Canada

No danger of Miss Mildred Dolbeare, Everett dancing teacher, being lonely or homesick on her honeymoon.

Dad and mother are going along by invitation.

Believe it or not—that is the story, as told by Miss Dolbeare herself and corroborated by her intended husband, Robert W. McArthur, an engineer, also of Everett.

As for the elder Dolbeares they take the plan merely as a matter of course and declare that they would have felt slighted had the young couple neglected to ask them to accompany them.

The honeymoon—unique among wedding tours—will take place in New York State and Canada in July.

REVEALS HER PLANS.

At her home, No. 193 Springvale street, Everett, the blushing young bride-to-be—just twenty-three—told enthusiastically of the couple's plans for the "chaperoned" bridal trip.

"Why, I wouldn't think of going on a honeymoon without my mother and father," she said. "Just because I'm marrying is no reason that I shouldn't have my parents with me all the time."

Ancient—that's the way she disposed of the idea of a honeymoon for two, declaring that she didn't see why more girls didn't take their parents along.

Young McArthur, who is of about the same age as his fiancee, sat through her entire recital, frequently nodding approval of the girl's views.

FOR HOME WEDDING.

"I shall be married right here in my parents' home in traveling clothes," she went on. "Immediately after the wedding Mother and Father and Winnie and myself will start on our honeymoon in an automobile. We will tour New York State and Canada. We will be gone for about a month. After that we will come back and make our home with my parents. My mother and I have been inseparable and I shall always be with her."

The romance of the couple started in their high school days four years ago.

Miss Dolbeare is a teacher in the first grade of the Webster School in addition to her duties as a dancing instructor. She is a graduate of the Wyoloosk School, Class of 1920.

TROTZKY CAMPAIGNS FOR GAS WARFARE

Moscow, May 19 (A.P.)—On the initiative of War Minister Trotzky, a general campaign is being inaugurated, urging the necessity of spreading the knowledge of chemical warfare.

Special instruction will be given the border populations to enable them to perfect themselves against invading armies using gases.

This campaign is analogous to one carried on last year after the ultimatum of Lord Curzon, British Foreign Secretary, when an appeal was made to the people for the creation of a voluntary aerial fleet. Up to the present more than 100 airplanes have been constructed.

PURCHASING AGENTS CONVENE IN HUB

Boston is playing host today, and for the rest of the week, to purchasing agents from all over the United States and Canada, here attending sessions of the annual convention of the National Association of Purchasing Agents. Convention business will be transacted in Mechanics Building, but noon luncheons in various hotels through the city have been arranged. Governor Cox and Mayor Curley will give addresses of welcome. Other state and city dignitaries will attend various sessions.

EVENING SESSION TO SPEED SHOALS ISSUE

Washington, May 19.—Demand for action at this session of Congress on the Muscle Shoals issue was renewed today when the Senate Agriculture Committee met to consider its hearings. Both advocates and opponents of the Ford bid declared they would oppose adjournment without a showdown. The committee decided to begin evening hearings tomorrow in an effort to expedite action.

U. S. ENVOY TO JAPAN RESIGNS

Ambassador Woods, Who Disapproves of Exclusion, Is Coming Home

Washington, May 19.—Cyrus E. Woods, ambassador to Japan, has asked to be relieved of his duty there, but it is not known when he will retire or whether his resignation has been acted upon.

C. E. Woods

Ambassador Woods, who played a leading part in relief efforts after the Japanese earthquakes, expressed his disapproval of the Asiatic exclusion provision of the new immigration bill in an address at Tokio several days ago at a meeting attended by opposition leaders and prominent residents.

A dispatch from Tokio, stating that the Ambassador confirms the announcement here of his resignation, quotes the envoy as saying that his desire to resign is due entirely to family reasons.

DRINKWATER IN DIVORCE GIVEN NOTED PIANIST

Famous Author of "Abraham Lincoln" Is Co-respondent Named by Moiseiwitch

London, May 19 (I.N.S.)—The pianist, Benno Moiseiwitch, today was granted a divorce from Daisy Kennedy, the violinist. John Drinkwater, famous playwright, was named corespondent. The action was not defended.

J. Drinkwater

Moiseiwitch is one of the world's foremost pianists. He was born at Odessa, Russia, Feb. 22, 1890, and was educated at the Imperial School of Music at Odessa, where he obtained the Rubenstein prize. Later he studied under Leschetitzky in Vienna. Since 1908 Moiseiwitch has made his home in England. He was married to Daisy Kennedy in 1914.

Miss Kennedy is an Australian, having been born at Burra in 1893. She went to Prague in 1908 and studied the violin with Professor Sevcik. She made her debut in Vienna in 1911 and in London at Queen's Hall the same year.

John Drinkwater is one of the world's most foremost dramatists in London. He became involved in an affair with Miss Kennedy which brought about a separation between himself and his wife.

Among Drinkwater's best known plays are "Abraham Lincoln," "Oliver Cromwell" and "Mary Stuart." He is the author of many poems.

'Bucking' Mule to Feature Italian Street Fair for Charity, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

CHESTNUT HILL numbers many prominent folk among its population, and not the least important residents of that fashionable section are four members of the Edwin S. Webster menage on Hammond street.

This illustrious quartet are well acquainted with almost all the Chestnut Hillites. They are both clever and entertaining and they're especially beloved by the "very younger set."

Which is quit natural, for the quartet is composed of one very spry "bucking" mule known as "Lena," and two very jolly Shetland ponies, one of the latter being the proud mother of a tiny Shetland colt, weighing just thirty pounds.

"Lena" and her three playmates were once with a traveling circus. It wasn't a very prosperous outfit, and things went from bad to worse until the poor creatures were left to starve somewhere up in New Hampshire. It happens that Mr. and Mrs. Webster have a country place in the Granite State, which was very lucky for "Lena" and the others. For the Websters found them, bought them, fed them and even brought them down to the big estate in Chestnut Hill.

Being former circus performers, the mule and the ponies can do all many of clever tricks. "Lena," in fact, has a very colorful career of "bucking" to her credit.

All the youngsters out Chestnut Hill way love to fondle the tiny colt and watch the others do their funny tricks. Besides, the ponies give them rides. All in all, they're a very popular quartet.

ALL of which means that on Saturday afternoon, June 7, "Lena" and the ponies and the baby colt will all be on hand to help make a success of the gay Italian street fair to be held on the Webster estate from 2 until 9.

Mrs. Howard Cooley (Photo by White)

The affair will benefit the Travelers' Aid Society, and the many attractions planned by the committee have already been described these columns. Mrs. F. Reed Estabrook and Mrs. Chandler Hovey, head the notable group in charge, and Mrs. Howard Cooley will look after the ice cream cones and soft drinks.

The Webster estate has never before been opened to the public, which should prove a strong drawing card in addition to the many other features of the affair.

MISS ELIZABETH HAMLEN

Miss Elizabeth Hamlen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Hamlen, will help serve tea at the benefit reading and musicale to be held at Wellesley College on the afternoon of May 28.

WARM SESSION LOOKED FOR ON AUTO BILLS

Goodwin Plans to Be Silent Observer, While Friends Do the Talking

A large attendance is expected at a public hearing tomorrow before the joint judiciary and highways and motor vehicles committees on the bills submitted by the Governor's Public Safety Committee.

As one of these bills considerably curtails the powers of Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin, it is expected his friends will have something to say.

Registrar Goodwin intends to be present, but to leave the talking to others, it is understood.

The bills provide, first, to increase the penalty for operating an automobile after suspension or revocation of license; second, to authorize courts to suspend licenses; third, to make the function of judges and the registrar more definite, and, four, to constitute a Motor Traffic Board.

FLIERS END 8,500-MILE CIRCUIT OF AUSTRALIA

Melbourne, May 19.—Aviators McIntyre and Goble today completed their 8,500-mile flight around Australia, accomplishing the feat in ninety flying hours.

Escorted by a fleet of welcoming airplanes they alighted on the summit of Saint Kilda to the accompaniment of cheers from enormous crowds lining the foreshore. The voyagers were officially greeted by Federal and State ministers and army and navy representatives.

BABY CARRIAGE FIREBUG SETS TWO BLAZES

Ignites Clothing in Perambulators, and Flames Spread to the Tenements

New York, May 19.—Two pyromaniacs were sought today as responsible for three incendiary fires in Brooklyn and the Bronx.

One of the men sought is known as the "Baby Carriage Firebug," suspected of having started a score of fires in the lower East Side a few months ago.

The means he used in starting fires in East Side tenements, igniting bed clothing in baby carriages, were adopted in two Bronx tenement fires which drove forty families to the streets.

In Brooklyn the incendiary poured gasoline on the porch of a three-story dwelling house and started a fire from which nine small children and six men and women were rescued by police and firemen.

WHEELER'S "NEMESIS" PROMISES MORE

Philadelphia, May 19. (I.N.S.)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, who is to be tried in Montana, on charges of conspiring with persons seeking oil concessions from the government isn't "out of the woods yet," despite the action of a Senate committee last week declaring him innocent, Blair Coan, investigator, declared here today. "Before we are through with him, we will have proved all of our charges, and more, to the satisfaction of all Americans," he said.

Fixes Own Speeding Fine, But Judge Raises It

Chicago, May 20.—"Name your own fine."

That was Judge Adams' invitation to Fred Frankenfield, 7130 Champlain avenue, when Frankenfield appeared before him in Speeders' Court charged with driving his automobile thirty miles and hour.

"I think $5 would be about right," said Frankenfield.

"I'll raise you $5," said the court, "and that means $10 and costs."

Charles Lucas, 24, 1428 W. Twenty-first street, convicted of driving while intoxicated, was sentenced to sixty days in the House of Correction and fined $200 and costs.

PLEA OF PASTOR REFUSED BY METHODISTS

Springfield, May 19 (I.N.S.)—The Methodist general conference today dismissed the appeal of Rev. Milton L. Bennett of Highland Park, Mich., from decision of the presiding bishop at the Detroit conference in removing him from the pastorate of the church at Grayling, Mich., and in refusing to grant him leave of absence from the conference. The committee on judiciary finds the bishop acted for the best interests of the church.

The committee reported that the request for leave of absence was not properly submitted.

Action on the Methodist Church's attitude toward war was postponed by the conference today. Dissatisfied with the recommendations of a standing committee the delegates voted for the appointment of a special committee to frame a new proposal and report it by next Friday.

A plan for appointment of a special commission of twenty-five, including five bishops, ten pastors and ten laymen, to make a complete study of the problem of organic union, is under consideration by the conference. Upon recommendation of a special committee of nine headed by Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York, the committee reports in favor of greater catholicity in the churches, and the work of the commission will be to encourage the work of reuniting the evangelical churches.

Funeral expenses of Roger Rhen, the West China delegate, who committed suicide last Thursday because of homesickness, will be paid by the conference. The body will be sent back to China, where the widow and two children live.

Inquiry is being made by the committee on judiciary as to the status of undergraduates in the summer schools of theology. The committee will determine whether such students can have their expenses paid by the annual conferences.

Close cooperation between the Epworth league and Sunday schools is favored by the committee on Sunday schools in a report to the conference today.

Reconsidering its previous action the Methodist Episcopal general conference was today to elect three new bishops instead of five. The vote was 428 for to 379 against.

2 Hurt in Oil Blast

St. Paul, May 19.—Two men were injured, perhaps fatally, when an oil tank of the Cenex Oil Refining Company exploded on the West Side today. Flames shot 200 feet in the air.

SEMI-DEMI DRYS ATTACKED BY MRS. TILTON

"Semi-demi dry" candidates were attacked by Mrs. William Tilton of the women's division of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League speaking before the Unitarian Temperance Society at the Arlington Street church today.

A "semi-demi-dry candidate," she said, "is a man who has constantly voted against us, but yet on the eleventh hour declares he is with us. The words are rather full of this latter kind of dry at present, but any one can see that the real dry can not be very enthusiastic about a semi-demi-dry candidate."

Mrs. Tilton said she had been asked by newspapermen for the last twenty-four hours to define: "When is a dry a real dry?"

"My answer is," she stated, "that a real dry is a person who believes that we must keep the definition of what constitutes intoxicating liquor at one-half of one per cent. alcoholic content.

"I have also been asked 'When is a candidate a real dry?' My answer is when he believes in keeping this definition of one-half of one per cent. and has constantly voted on the prohibition side. This is a real dry candidate who should be supported. Dallinger is such a candidate."

Wagon Driver Hurt

Robert E. Waldron of No. 247 Cambridge street, Allston, a driver for a Charlestown dairy company, was painfully injured when he leaped from his wagon in front of a passing motor car near the Chestnut Hill Reservoir, Brookline, today. He was treated at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

OIL SOAKED LINE OF PAPERS SET BY FIREBUG

What is believed to have been a deliberate attempt to burn a block of eight stores, Nos. 309 to No. 319 Highland avenue, Somerville, was foiled today when a passerby, noticing smoke coming from a cellar window, notified the fire department.

In an alleyway, beside the block, firemen said they found a sixty-five foot trail of newspapers, saturated with kerosene, running directly to a pile of boxes.

Though the alleyway begins at Cherry street, at No. 310, the papers were placed beneath a grocery store, halfway down the alley. The woodwork was burned with slight damage.

Fire Chief Sewell M. Rich and Fire Inspector Everett W. Shumway, who are conducting an investigation, admitted they were at a loss to explain how a person could have entered the alleyway, as the entrance at Cherry street was bolted.

To prevent further visits from the alleged firebug, a policeman was stationed at the block during the night, and another officer relieved him today. Z. Gray, according to the police, is the owner of the block.

GIRL DIES AFTER LEAP FROM WINDOW

Miss Charina Cropley of No. 881 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, who injured her leg May 5 when she said she jumped from a window of the home of John Flannagan on Prospect street, Woburn, died in the Choate Memorial Hospital, from lockjaw which set in from her injured leg.

Flannagan's case, in which he was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon in connection with Miss Cropley's injury, was continued from May 6 to June 1 pending the outcome of the girl's condition. Her death, police said, may cause the charge against him to be changed.

EVELYN DROPS HER FIGHT TO KEEP THAW IN ASYLUM

ACTION IS HALTED BY LAWYER

Move for New Hearing of Liberty Case Ends in Pennsylvania

Philadelphia, May 19.—William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, divorced wife of Harry K. Thaw, today announced that he would withdraw the motion for a new trial to determine Thaw's sanity. Thaw was declared sane recently by a jury in common pleas court.

Today had been set to hear argument on the motion, and when the case was called, neither Mr. Gray nor Associate counsel responded. Later Mr. Gray entered the courtroom and told newspapermen he would withdraw the motion. Counsel for Thaw was present and ready to proceed with the case.

Thaw is in Pittsburgh visiting his mother, pending the outcome of the motion for the new trial.

According to Mr. Gray, motion for the new trial was made in the interest of Russell William Thaw, the Nesbit's son, who claims an anticipatory interest in Thaw's estate. She contends on behalf of the boy that Thaw is still insane and if released he would dissipate the estate.

Recently, however, Mrs. Nesbit announced that she would ask her attorney to withdraw the motion for a new trial, stating that "A working girl could not fight the Thaw millions."

Thaw is in Pittsburgh visiting his mother by permission of the court. Whether he will return here to be released formally or whether his attorneys will represent him was not made clear after the motion was withdrawn.

Thaw is under indictment in New York on charges in connection with the alleged beating of Frederick Gump, a former Boston City Hirh School boy. The New York authorities sought to have Thaw returned to New York State seven years ago, when the assault is alleged to have occurred, but his mother intervened and after he had been declared insane he was confined in the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases.

A civil suit for damages brought by Gump's father was settled out of court in January.

DECLARES HER LOVE FOR NOTED CROOK

HELEN PATTERSON

Divorced wife of Millionaire Otto Heyworth, who sought to wed "Dapper Dan" Harry Hussey in his cell in Paris. She failed to get Hussey papers before he was led away to America to face robbery charges.

Paris, May 19.—Crying bitterly because her marriage could not be performed in time, pretty Helen Patterson waved a tearful farewell to "Dapper Dan" Collins, alias Harry Hussey, as the boat train for the steamship Aquitania pulled out of Gare St. Lazare.

Hussey, an alleged international crook, is being taken to America for trial in connection with the Shattuck robbery and other alleged crimes in the United States, and is in the custody of Hyams and Daly, New York detectives.

Helen tried every means to marry him in the French prison, saying: "I will marry him, no matter what he may be. Oh, I love him, even if he is a crook. He will find me waiting at the prison door when he comes out."

But she did not get papers in time in spite of spending much money for expensive attorneys. She is the former wife of Otto Heyworth, the millionaire.

Bible Contest Winners Selected from 10,000; 1st Prize Goes to Malden

Here are the fifty-six prize winners of the Boston American's Bible Contest on "Does the World Need a New Bible?" and "Are the Ten Commandments Sufficient?"

The first prize, $25, was awarded to Alfred L. MacDonald, No. 156 Franklin street, Malden.

The judges in the contest awarded these prizes to the winners on the novel and original thought expressed in the answers regardless of whether they were for or against a revision of the Bible.

More than 10,000 letters were received during the week of this contest expressing many interesting, novel, remarkable and diversified opinions on the question and which, on account of the limited number of prizes, could not be included in the awards.

THE WINNING LETTER.

Here is Mr. MacDonald's letter, which won the first prize:

"I respectfully submit that it does not lie within man's jurisdiction to write a new Bible. The prophecy came not in old time by will of man, but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Spirit. All Scripture is given by inspiration of God. 2 Peter, 1-21; 2 Timothy, 3-16; 2 Samuel, 23-2.

FORETELLS EVENTS.

"Only those writing under divine influence could foretell future events, but we find many of our modern inventions foretold centuries ago by the prophets, for example:

Radio ..... Job 38-35
Airships ..... Isaiah 60-8
Railroad Trains ..... Nahum 2-4
Running to and Fro Travel, etc. Increase of Knowledge. Daniel 12-4
Desert Irrigation .. Isaiah 35-1

"In the light of these and numerous other fulfillments let us have faith to study our Bibles that we may find therein God's plans and purposes: 2 Timothy 2-15, Ephesians 3-11.

"If we come to God's Word, believing that He exists and follow His instructions: James 1-8.

2 COMMANDMENTS.

"Would suggest that we follow the instructions of Jesus and sum up the Ten Commandments in two great Commandments.

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, with all thy heart and all thy soul and with all thy mind and thy neighbor as thyself."

"On these two Commandments hang all the law and the prophets: Matthew 22-36-40."

OTHER PRIZE WINNERS.

NEW RECTOR AT MISSION CHURCH

The Rev. Fr. John O'Leary, C.SS.R., who last week was transferred from the rectorship of the Mission Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., to the Mission Church, Roxbury, greeted his parishioners at all masses.

Fr. O'Leary is a Roxbury boy and some years ago was stationed for ten years at the church of which he is the new rector. The Rt. Rev. Mgr. Barry-Doyle of Constantinople spoke on the Far East. At the Holy Communion services of Roxbury Council, K. of C., Fr. O'Leary preached the sermon.

DIABETES DEATHS HALTED BY INSULIN

New York, May 19.—Evidences that insulin, the new discovery for curing diabetes, has halted the disease, are contained in statistics made public by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. With the record of 15,000,000 industrial policy holders for the first quarter of 1924 the statistical bulletin of the company announces that "mortality from diabetes declined 23 per cent. as compared with the first quarter of last year among the white policy holders and 17 per cent. among the colored."

BOSTONIANS BACK FROM TRIP AROUND WORLD

President Adams Returns After 15-Weeks Voyage With Only 2 Days Bad Weather

After circling the globe on a fifteen-week voyage the round-the-world liner President Adams arrived in Boston today four hours ahead of schedule. In the long voyage the Yankees was not sounded once and on only two days was it rough enough to put plate racks on the dining room table.

The liner had eighteen saloon passengers for Boston, thirty for New York and one for San Francisco. She sailed from New York on February 7 on her maiden voyage and made calls at Havana, Colon, Balboa, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Honolulu, Kobe, Shanghai, Hongkong, Manilla, Singapore, Penang, Colombo, Suez, Port Said, Alexandria, Naple, Genoa and Marseilles. Among the Bostonians on board were W. C. Safford, a retired Boston business man, who with Mrs. Safford has been living in Europe for three years. They embarked at a Mediterranean port. Also the Misses Harriet G. and Jane G. C. Hamlin, sisters of President Edward Hamlin of the Metropolitan Coal Company; Miss Helen E. Dennison, Mr. and Mrs. A. O'Conner, Mrs. L. D. Glover and Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Smalley, all of whom embarked at Mediterranean ports.

The President Adams was delayed in quarantine by the heavy northwest gale which swept the harbor today. After her discharge by the port physician the ship had to be manoeuvered with great care in the gale, and while she passed in at 8 a.m., it was nearly noon before she docked at the Army Base.

The liner will sail for New York on Tuesday and thence for another voyage around the world, and will be due back in Boston Sept. 8.

AUTO-HIKING COSTS YOUTH HIS LIFE

Stamford, Conn., May 19.—Auto riding from New York to New Haven, Scovel Lyon, twenty-three, a student in the Union Theological Seminary in New York, was fatally injured in a motor accident in Darien.

Lyon, who is the son of Dr. D. Willard Lyon of Yonkers, for twenty-five years an international secretary in the foreign department in the Y. M. C. A., left New York and met Albert McCotter on the road operating a motorcycle with side car. He accepted a ride and in Darien Mr. Conkey attempted to pass a car ahead of him, and collided with an automobile. Lyon's skull was fractured.

INJURED MAN IS FOUND ON ROADSIDE

Fitchburg, May 19.—A Lunenburg milk man while making his early morning rounds discovered the body of an unconscious man lying in the road near the duck mills at South Fitchburg. The man had a bad gash on the side of his head.

The man was conveyed to the Burbank Hospital, where after a few hours in reviving enough so as to tell the hospital officials that his name was Peter Borowtych. Outside of that no could give no other information. A new bicycle was found lying on top of him.

SWEDEN TO OPEN BIG STATION SOON

Gothenburg, Sweden, May 19.—Sweden's transatlantic radio station, one of the largest in Europe, is receiving its finishing touches and will be opened within a few weeks. This station, which is capable of handling messages between Sweden and America in both directions simultaneously, has been in the process of construction for more than a year.

DIVORCED, IS TO MARRY A DIVORCEE

Romance of Auto Registry Clerk and Mrs. Whitney of Newtonville Leaks Out

Notwithstanding efforts to keep the matter secret, it became known today that Charles R. Gilley, chief clerk in the office of Registrar of Motor Vehicles, is to marry Mrs. Marion Clark Whitney, twenty-eight, of No. 165 Austin street, Newtonville. Both are divorced.

On September 23, 1919, Gilley was divorced by his wife, who charged cruel and abusive treatment. She was awarded the custody of their two children, Doris and John.

On November 5, 1923, Mrs. Whitney secured a divorce in the Middlesex County Court from Harry P. Whitney, also on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment. She was awarded custody of their one child, Winslow C.

On April 22, 1922, Gilley's name was brought into the famous "Thaw-Wilson bandit case. Gilley was overhauled by a policeman on the Somerville boulevard while driving his automobile with Miss "Sally" Doyle as his companion. Miss Doyle was Wilson's sweetheart. The policeman recognized the young woman and gave chase to the couple, twice passing them and slighting and attempting to stop them. The policeman alleged the car tried to run him down. The third time he drew his gun and compelled the car to stop.

Gilley claimed he was merely driving the young woman to her home in Medford, at her request. The matter was dropped after this explanation.

Today at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Clark, No. 165 Austin street, Newtonville, Mrs. Whitney said that Mr. Gilley did not want the more than 200 employes of the motor vehicle department to know anything about his wedding until after the honeymoon.

"We have known each other casually for about a year, but the real courtship has been about one and one-half months' duration," said Mrs. Whitney.

The wedding is scheduled for Wednesday, May 28.

SPURNED WOMAN HURLS ACID, KILLS MAN

Columbus, O., May 19.—Three little children were made orphans when a woman, known to police as Mrs. Kelley, dashed a bottle of acid in their father's face while he was visiting in a downtown theatre, causing his death before he could be rushed to a hospital.

The victim of the acid thrown was George R. Hackney, thirty, who according to Rose, nine, his eldest daughter, has been keeping company with the woman for some time, but had refused her repeated request to marry her.

After committing the deed, the woman fled from the theatre and escaped in an automobile.

Romance Bared

CHARLES R. GILLEY.

News leaks out of coming marriage of chief clerk of registrar of motor vehicles, divorced, to Mrs. Marion Clark Whitney, Newtonville divorcee, despite his attempt to keep event secret till honeymoon is over.

SAYS "MRS." IS AID TO SINGLE WOMAN

New York, May 19.—Although she is unmarried and declares that she "probably never will be," Miss Estella Scheyer, German art lecturer, attaches the prefix "Mrs." to her name when she travels.

"A recently-adopted German law permits it," she said on her arrival on the steamship Deutschland, "It is a great help to the unmarried woman in the business field."

Miss Scheyer will lecture on the "Fine Four" painters of Europe at Smith College. She said she also would advocate that all young women assume the title "Mrs." on arriving at the age of twenty-one.

MARCINO TRIAL DELAYED TILL TOMORROW

Counsel for the Warren Bank Wrecker Fights to Have Court Prevent Hearing

Worcester, May 19.— Additional defence tactics in behalf of Joseph B. Marcino, who, with Frank L. Taylor, former bank president, and Abraham Goloman of Chicago, have been indicted in connection with the wrecking of the First National Bank of Warren on February 3, 1923, today caused a postponement of the trial until tomorrow.

Counsel for Marcino still ele pleas in court to prevent trial of their client, now here under custody of a marshal from the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, where he is serving a Federal sentence in connection with this case. The nature of the pleas has not been made known.

In the state court here, Marcino, if tried, will face charges of conspiracy and larceny of $215,000 of the bank's securities, and Goldman and Taylor will be tried on charges of conspiracy and aiding in the larceny of the bonds.

Trial was to have started Friday, but counsel for Marcino appealed to Federal authorities in Boston for a writ of habeas corpus declaring it illegal to place Marcino on trial while serving a federal sentence for the same offence. Judge Morton of the United States District Court denied the petition and certified the case for a ruling by the United States Supreme Court.

Taylor is serving a sentence in the Plymouth jail on a Federal conviction in connection with the case, and Goldman is facing trial for the first time in this connection.

Train Victim Identified

Worcester, May 19.—The body of the man killed on the tracks of the Boston & Albany Railroad last Friday night by a freight train was identified at the City Hospital Morgue as that of John D. Lloyd of No. 58 Shrewsbury street. The identification was made by Thomas Lloyd, a brother.

BOOTLEGS SOON TO INVADE THE '400,' SOCIETY LEADER SAYS

WILL REPLACE PROFITEERS, MRS. KING BELIEVES

Not for nothing did "Al the bootlegger" quote deliriously: "Speakeasy is the head that wears the crown."

Today poor old Ward McAllister's head guide on the long climb up society's heights, turned over in his grave. He'd his head in his arms and is himself of a few lonely tears.

The worst is yet to come. But it's coming. Bootleggers within five years, will be members of New York's Four Hundred. That is on the solemn word of Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer, leader on the golden heights, who has taken her pen in hand to tell the world a few things about Gotham society, past and present.

She has also missed a bit with reference to the future and it will be a bootleggers' future in the lofty strata of society. Poor Ward McAllister's noble and delicate task of picking the original "400" for Mr. Astor will be all unraveled within five years.

PASSING THE PROFITEER.

Bootleggers are the men who now are rolling up the money. The purveyors of drinks as gentle as a tap on the hat from a length of iron pipe soon will have enough money to ride on the ride into the sacred realm where they toll not, but only chin.

The profiteers who gained the rovers' pinnacle through squeezing after the war are now gradually dropping out of the ranks and going back to normalcy, according to Mrs. Van Rensselaer in her book, "The Social Ladder," which has caused a stir in New York and Boston society circles.

The writer laments that the old wall that once encompassed fashionable New York is now a fragmentary ruin, over which any one with comparatively minor qualifications may step with ease, thus putting the words in the mouth of a society critic, she scathingly assails the new social standard.

"Anybody with money is potentially a member of New York society. Any one who has good looking daughters, who go to fashionable schools, is a member, if he wants to be. Any one who dances well, or has children who dance well—if you call it dancing—is eligible for membership in New York society.

CASH AND ABILITY TO DANCE.

"Have you $100,000 to spend this year? Can you wear clothes like a lounge lizard and dance like one? If you can answer either of these questions in the affirmative you can be a member of New York society tomorrow, if you want to.

Society, which will soon accept the bootlegger, is now suffering from the invasion of families who acquired great wealth during the recent war, declares this literary social leader.

"If a family of the current profiteer invasion has youthful sons, if these wear their clothes well, if they are not averse to the laxities and indulgences of the 'fast set,' are frequenter, if, above all, they can dance well, the family has no difficulty in establishing itself socially, almost at once," she says.

And what a bit these flesh producing tablets have made—every druggist is selling more and more of them every day.

Everybody knows that nasty-tasting, evil-smelling Cod Liver Oil is chock full of Vitamines and is a wonderful flesh producer and strength creator.

But who wants to swallow the horrible stuff when these wonderful tablets—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—are just as good and so easy to take.

A box of 60 tablets for 60 cents—and if any thin man or woman don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days—money back. Ask any good druggist anywhere.

"Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet."

DRIVEN OUT BY FIRE IN SOUTH BOSTON

VICTIMS OF MYSTERIOUS BLAZE

Several families were driven to the street when fire of undetermined origin swept the two-and-one-half wooden block at Nos. 129 to 137 B street, South Boston. The loss was estimated at $7,500.

FEW WORKERS QUIT JOBS AT REO MOTORS

"If our labor turnover continues to drop," says Barney Toll, factory manager of the Reo Motor Car Company, "the time will soon come when a scratch race among our workmen will be a curiosity to the rest of the men.

"Every month in 1924 has shown a lower per cent. of labor turnover than the corresponding month of 1923, and it is quite probable that we are well on our way to establishing a new high record.

"The reduction has been especially marked in March and April. Last year, April was one of our worst months with respect to the number of men who left the company and the number that had to be employed to fill the vacant places. Even then the turnover was only 5.4 per cent.

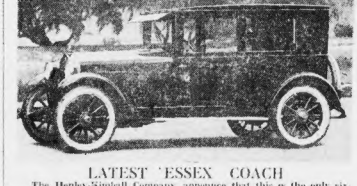
"In April of this year, however, only 2.3 per cent. of our men had to be replaced. Figures for March, 1924, were 4.5 per cent., as compared with 2.8 per cent. for March, 1924.

"Evidently the efforts we are making to keep our men contented and happy, and thus retain skilled workmen are bearing fruit. We believe that solid, skilled workmen, whose lives are happy, are needed to build quality motor cars, and we are constantly on the lookout for anything we can do to improve the lots of our men.

"An unusually high proportion of them own their own homes, a large share of them have comfortable bank accounts, and many of them are graduates of our own apprentice school. We insist on American citizenship among our men and keep our shops remarkably free from accidents.

"These things, we believe, account for our negligible labor turnover, and the fact that our men stay with us makes it possible to maintain our high standards of manufacture."

NEW MODEL COSTS LESS THAN $1,000



LATEST 'ESSEX COACH

The Hudson Motor Company announce that this is the only six-cylinder enclosed car of four-five passenger capacity, which sells for less than $1,000. It is larger and roomier than the previous model, has a larger wheel base, more sweeping lines and a six cylinder motor to which have been applied the principles of the Hudson Super-Six.

AUTO OWNERS FAVOR CLOSED MODELS

"Why buy an open car when closed cars cost no more," says F. A. Ordway, vice-president of The Hemy-Kimball Company, Hudson and Essex distributors for New England.

"In 1919 out of 1,372 new cars delivered by us, only 124 were of the open type, body, and, in most cases, when open cars were purchased, the buyer already owned a closed car. As Hudson and Essex Coach sales increased 45 per cent. of the factory production, it materially minimizes first cost, enabling the public to secure a closed car at no greater cost than most concerns charge for their open cars.

"The public appreciate the wonderful value we have given them as evidenced by the number seen daily on the streets. These increased values make Hudson and Essex the largest six cylinder enclosed car builders in the world. In order to accomplish this feat we gave the buyers the same quality car in both the Hudson and Essex.

BOY OF 7 KILLED BY SHOCK FROM WIRE

Netcong, N. J., May 19.—The body of Frank Compagnone, seven, with one arm across a high power electric wire, was found under the frame work of a railroad bridge after a twenty-four hour search by State police, parents and friends. The boy had been playing there and took sick and is believed to have crawled into the place where he met his death.

YOUTHS, SEIZED IN RAID, GARBED AS GIRLS

'Rehearsing Play,' They Plead After Arrest in Brant Rock Cottage

If a number of young men don women's apparel and proceed to have the time of their lives, it constitutes disorderly conduct in the opinion of police.

It was on such a charge that seven youths were arrested in a cottage in the Muddy Brook section of Brant Rock, in a raid by Chief of Police John Sullivan and Patrolman Fitzpatrick of the State Constabulary, who said they found the youths "disorderly in speech and behavior."

DISHORE IN PLYMOUTH.

According to the police, five of the young men were so attired and made up that it required keen scrutiny to distinguish them from the "real thing."

They were removed to the Plymouth police station, where all their clothes and makeup, from wigs to lingerie were taken from them, and they were forced to don male attire.

The clothes seized by the police will be introduced as evidence in court when the youths are arraigned. Included are silk stockings, silk lingerie and expensive gowns.

"REHEARSING FOR PLAY"

Two of the seven were dressed in male attire. They too were arrested.

All contended that they were rehearsing for a play they were to present in Haverhill. Police said they were attracted to the house by the sound of revelry within.

The men gave their names as Adjutor Marshall of No. 54 Norwood street, Lynn; Abner Steele of No. 53 Central street, Peabody; George Sonner of No. 11 Albemarle street, Boston; George Pony of No. 16 Nevada street, Nashua, N. H.; Elmer Foster of No. 42 Friend street, Lynn; Edgerie Robery of No. 27 Whiting street, Lynn, and John E. Smith of Wendell street, Nahant.

AUTO ACCIDENTS IN LONDON INCREASE

London, May 19.—The growing peril of London streets is seen from statistics issued by Scotland Yard for the first quarter of this year, which show there were 16,601 accidents, of which 175 were fatal. The worst offenders were motor cars, which account for 5,434 accidents, trade motors being next with 4,085, motorbuses 1,810, tramcars 1,104, taxis 912 and motorcycles 759.

MINER'S TOGS REPLACED BY COURT DRESS

Ayr, Scotland, Turns Out in Honor to "Jamie," Elevated by King

AYR, Scotland, May 19 (A.P.)—The customary Sabbath calm of the little mining village of Ashbank, near here, was disturbed in an unprecedented manner.

The main street was thronged with men, inhabitants and visitors on the occasion of the solemn farewell to "Jamie" Brown on the eve of his departure with his wife and son to assume his temporary office as Lord High Commissioner of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland at Edinburg, where he is to represent the King as the head of a court.

The coal miner and his wife, still unpretarbed by the honors thrust upon them, received the greetings of their friends and visitors with unruffled ease, and attended the usual service at the little church, where they joined in the worship as they have done for the last forty years.

Afterward the minister, Rev. Mr. Johnston, who is to act as "Jamie's" chaplain in Holyrood, presented on behalf of the elders and parishioners an illuminated address expressing gratification at the honor done them.

Perhaps the most noteworthy incident of the day, however, was the fact that "Jamie," for the first time in thirty-six years, failed to conduct his Sunday school class, owing to the general disturbance of his Sabbath routine.

In the afternoon Mrs. Brown entertained a number of friends at a tea at which cookies of her own make were served.

Today she becomes "Her Grace," to be waited upon by numerous servants, and her husband dons court dress and sword.

TO NAME MULCAHY DEFENCE MINISTER

Dublin, May 19. (I.N.S.)—President William T. Cosgrave will nominate General Richard Mulcahy as Minister of Defence after the report of the committee investigating arms scandals is published next week. It is understood that the report will exonerate Mulcahy of the charge of accepting bribes in connection with army contracts. President Cosgrave still faces serious trouble. One faction is supporting him but another is backing General Liam Tobin, one of the ringleaders in the recent army revolt.

3 MISSING IN BLAST IN HAWAIIAN CRATER

Honolulu, May 19. (A.P.)—Three persons are believed to have met instant explosion in the crater of Kilauea volcano on the Island of Hawaii a hour before dawn today, it was learned here. They are Miss Molly U. Thomas, a nurse of the board of health and two soldiers, whose names were not given.

Bill to Tax Copper

Washington, May 19.—A six-cents a pound tariff would be placed on all forms of copper under a bill proposed today by Representative James of Michigan. Such protection, he asserted, should be given to enable copper mines to pay a living wage and give back to mine owners a "small part of their investment."

The healthy look that DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN Gives is Natures Own

Ladies! This Beats Cosmetics

GOOD health cannot be camouflaged by powder and rouge. The eyes will tell. That sparkle and clearness that denotes good health will not be there if you are constipated. Mrs. Clara Proctor of Pottersville, Mich., had been told by doctors she had this and that disease, and one advised an operation, but she knew she had been constipated all her life so first tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. She avoided the operation and now feels better than she ever did. Likewise Mrs. William Appleton of Eddington, Pa., who was badly constipated and now looks her best again after using Syrup Pepsin.

On Sale for 30 Years

Intelligent women are realizing that health and mere outward complexion are two different things, and more and more are taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Over 10 million bottles were bought in drug stores last year, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world! Go to your druggist and buy a bottle. The cost is less than a cent a dose. You will see how much more effective a spoonful of Syrup Pepsin is than tablets, powders or pills, and without shock to the system.

Safe Family Laxative

Use it regularly a day before and a day after the periods. The gentle emptying of the bowels will give you relief, and lessen headaches and congestion. Take a spoonful at bed-time and see how much better you feel in the morning. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics, and entirely safe not only for you but for the youngest child. Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house for you or some other member of the family may need it any moment to relieve constipation, to break up fevers and colds, to clear up biliousness, indigestion, to allay a fever sore and other disturbances that show constipation.

SECRET RADIO SOLD TO ITALY BY HAMMOND

Young American Inventor Leaves There to Show Device to England

Rome, May 19.—John Hays Hammond, Jr., the American inventor, left here for London to demonstrate to the British admiralty his latest device in radio transmission. He has entered into a contract with the Italian government for a number of transmitting and receiving sets on a new system, to be constructed in the United States.

This system permits of secrecy in radio transmission and enables each station to send more than one message simultaneously on the same length.

Great utility in war time is claimed for it, because it makes use of certain combinations of wave lengths which must be known before a message can be picked up. In commercial use it would permit broadcasting stations to charge a fee for for listening in on their program.

Vacuum Tube for the Best Letter on the Superflex

One vacuum tube is waiting for the best letter on the Boston American Superflex received this week.

The letter need not necessarily be a boost for the Superflex. Constructive criticism on the set or on the way it was handled editorially is also welcome.

Authenticated reports of the performance of the set are also desired.

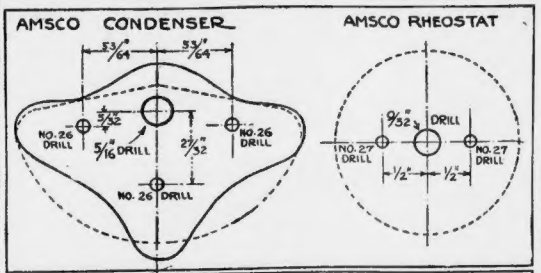
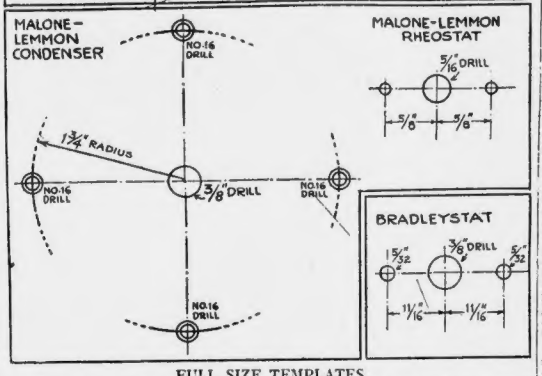
DRILLING PLANS FOR SUPERFLEX





FULL SIZE TEMPLATES

Above are more templates to assist builders of the Superflex to drill the panels for the one and two tube models. The templates are full size, and may be laid on the panel, and the drilling holes spotted directly. They should be used in conjunction with the panel layouts which have already been printed. These templates were furnished by the various manufacturers whose parts were tried out and proved successful in the Superflex. Others have already been published.

On the Air Last Night

By THE LISTENER

I enjoyed the Fadettes again from WTAT. This wonderful orchestra always seems in perfect condition, and I cannot conceive a better way for WTAT to please the public, than by keeping up the Fadette programs.

WNAC must have signed off rather early. I heard that Unitarian program from the Arlington Street Church, and liked it very much. The violin and organ music was especially pleasing. The voice of the speaker was clear and impressive.

Speaking of church services brings to mind how some of my friends have been taking the Temple Israel services which WNAC has been broadcasting of late on Sunday mornings.

Several of them have said: "My, but I never realized a Jewish church service was so much like our regular church services."

Many of them also never knew that the sermons were preached in English. But probably the most welcome surprise to the whole radio audiences was to find Rabbi Levi such an interesting and convincing man. He is the type of man who first is sure he has something to say before he says it.

If any of you have been hearing a powerful 60-cycle buzz on 452 meters, between the hours of 2:30 and 3 a. m. don't, confuse it with a leaky power line in your neighborhood. It is only WEAF in New York testing their new 5,000-watt transmitter. They come in here with a volume even in excess of a local station.

The telephone people are certainly keeping up with the times, and a very noteworthy stand they are taking, too, in so carefully testing their equipment instead of clogging up the air during broadcast hours, with a lot of poorly modulated "much." We can rest assured that whenever one of their stations is opened, it is as near "right" as it can be made to be.

I see by some of the radio magazines that the Radio Corporation of America is now going to recommend that single circuit receivers no longer be used. They will, of course, stop manufacturing them. The radio public is now beginning to ask: "Will the Radio Corporation of America allow us anything on our old single circuit sets, which we have paid so much for?" Their stand in the matter will be decidedly interesting.

KGO CONFIRMS DX STUNT

Facsmile of a letter from Station KGO, Oakland, California, which confirms the reception in Providence of a program from that station by Robert T. Marr of No. 181 Summit avenue, Providence, on a Boston American super set, built from one of the Boston American booklets and using home made coils with three 201A tubes and a 200 for a detector. In less than six weeks Mr. Marr has heard sixty-eight stations, two of which were on the Pacific and has capped his record by winning the WEAN prize for the first telegram announcing reception of a special broadcast.

Radio Queries

I—What will be the difference in results between the one and the two-tube Superflex? 2—I have a one-tube set using a UV200 with vario-coupler and 13-plate condenser. I get only local stations. What can I add to get more distance?

F. C. G.

I—More volume on the distant stations with the two-tube. 2—Impossible to say without seeing your hookup.

How many plates in the condensers for the Baby Super?

Z. E.

Eleven or thirteen.

I built the one-tube Superflex with a plain crystal. When the crystal is open, I get a loud howl.

J. M. C.

This is correct.

Is there any station WUU or WU? I heard it calling about 2:00 a. m.

A. E. F.

No. You must have mistaken the call letters.

In my four-tube Super I am using two WD11 tubes and 67 volts, but do not get outside of Boston. There is also a hum when WNAC is on. I use a 3 megohm grid leak.

T. C. M. S.

Don't understand what the other tubes are. The WD's do not give as much volume as the 201A's. Grid leak values must be determined by experiment, as they vary even with the same type of tube. Often no grid leak at all is best. The Super when properly built is free from extraneous noises originating in the set.

Radio Receiving Conditions Tonight

Radio receiving conditions tonight should be good from stations broadcasting in the Eastern and Southern sections of the country.

Stations in the West and Northwest may not come in so well due to a difference in barometric pressure.

N. E. Shares 34.6 P. C. Gain in New Phones for Past 5 Years

Washington, May 19.—The number of telephones in use in the United States increased from 11,716,520 on December 31, 1917, to 14,347,395 on the same date in 1922. Statistics made public today by the Department of Commerce also disclosed that the rate of increase was 22.4 per cent, while the population was increasing at a rate of about 7 per cent.

The greatest sectional gains were reported from New England and the Middle Atlantic States, which comprise New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, their combined increase for the five-year period being at the rate of 34.6 per cent., compared with 17.5 per cent. for the remainder of the country.

BOY GIVES HIS LIFE AND SAVES 5

Leaps Into Harbor to Lighten Sinking Boat From Which Chums Are Rescued

Sixteen-year-old John Cibello of No. 14 Paris street, East Boston, is mourned today as Noddle Island's greatest hero.

By leaping into the cold waters of Boston Harbor and sacrificing his life he saved five companions from death when the boat in which they started to Governor's Island for a picnic, was swamped.

The six youngsters had sailed the water from the rowboat for half an hour. And, using Bruschetta using hats, shoes and a broken bottle, and were forced to admit defeat.

John told the rest to hold on and put their feet over the side. He gave the two youngest members of the party the only two life preservers in the boat. Then he leaped overboard.

After waiting to see that his "buddies" were able to keep afloat, John boldly started to swim for Governor's Island, a quarter of a mile away. He was the best swimmer in the group. He had taken only a dozen strokes, however, when he suddenly disappeared. One of his friends dove into the water in an attempt to save the youthful hero, but was unsuccessful. John didn't reappear.

Vincent Gillis, 16, of No. 6 Winthrop street; Alfred Fairchild, 15, of No. 11 Paris street; Andrew Brusciette, of No. 45 Chelsea street; Ademo Sanctere, 15, of No. 16 Paris street, and Francis Leahy, 18, of No. 8 Winthrop street, are the boys who owe their lives to their chum's heroism.

HOFFMAN TRIED FOR MURDER OF MRS. BAUER

Wife Loyal as Movie Operator Faces Charge of Staten Island Slaying

New York, May 19.—Selection of a jury for the trial of Harry L. Hoffman, motion picture machine operator, on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the brutal slaying of Mrs. Maud A. Bauer, March 25, was started today in Staten Island.

Wan and thin, Hoffman was taken from the county jail to the sheriff's office in the court house handcuffed to two deputies.

District Attorney Fish said the prosecution would call about 113 witnesses in its efforts to construct a chain of circumstantial evidence against Hoffman.

The jury will be selected from two panels of 100 talesmen each. Hoffman's defence, it is said, will be an alibi.

Mrs. Bauer was murdered on a lonely road in Chelsea, Staten Island. The crime is regarded by many persons as one of the most shocking in the history of the city.

CAR STALLED IN MUD.

Mrs. Bauer was driving a machine through a muddy road. In the car were her mother and her two children—Maude, eleven, and Hedda, seven. The car became mired.

Mrs. Bauer, young, pretty, a good mother, trudged out of the mud to seek help to get her children and their grandmother safe on hard ground. At a crossing a man driving a sedan stopped. She asked his help. He said that he would drive her to a garage.

The road was a lonely one and dark. Almost within call of her mother and children the man attacked her. She fought hard. He struck her over the head with the butt of a .25-calibre pistol. He struck her on the jaw, but she never ceased to fight.

She got out of the car and then the man shot her, first in the throat, and then in the stomach. He left her lying there beside the road, her mother and her children waiting for her to come back.

CASE AGAINST HOFFMAN.

Hoffman has been identified as the man who gave Mrs. Bauer a lift. He got his friend, Raymond Parker, also a projectionist man, to swear that he was with him during the afternoon of March 25. Parker finally confessed that he had lied and that Hoffman was not with him that afternoon. Hoffman told detectives before Parker had recanted his story of the alibi that no one he knew had seen him that afternoon.

Hoffman, a few days after the murder, burned up the holster of a 25-calibre automatic pistol. At the same time he mailed to a brother in the Bronx a 25-calibre automatic pistol.

At first he said he had bought the gun as a Christmas gift for his brother. But when shown the postal receipt for the gun, dated in March after the murder, he admitted that he had lied.

HAS TWISTED EYES.

Hoffman said in his defence, the description given of the murderer of Mrs. Bauer was so close to him that he did these things through fear that he might be accused. Also he changed his eyeglasses, color and cut. He had been using horn-rimmed glasses. He put these aside and used glasses less conspicuous.

Hoffman has twisted eyes. Barbara Fahs and a number of school children who were at the crossing when Mrs. Bauer accepted a lift recall the strange twist to the eyes of the man who opened the sedan for the woman who was murdered.

Should Hoffman be acquitted of the murder charge he will be tried for attempting assault on a Staten Island woman, a year before the murder of Mrs. Bauer.

JEALOUSY MAY BE MOTIVE IN MURDER OF 2

Believe Suitor of Slain School Teacher May Have Fired the Shot in Blue Ridge Tragedy

Marysville, Pa., May 19 (I.N.S.)—Leah Ellenberger, twenty-one-year-old school teacher and sweetheart of Harry Ganster, twenty, were slain by a jealous suitor, State police, working on the case today, said was one of the theories they were at work upon.

The girl and youth were found dead in their automobile at Lambs Gap, on the Blue Ridge Mountains Saturday morning, after an all-night search by a posse headed by the youth's father.

One bullet, which passed through the boy's heart, entered the body of the girl and caused both deaths, a coroners verdict showed.

Other theories being considered by police today were:

That a jealous husband came upon the pair, and mistaking them for his wife and the "other man" murdered them.

That they were slain by a bullet fired at a target.

HOWARD THURSTON
"King of Magic," now at Selwyn Theatre, entertained patients in Chelsea Marine Hospital in cooperation with Boston American.

More than 100 sick and crippled men in Chelsea Marine Hospital were entertained by Howard Thurston, "King of Magic," as guests of the Boston American.

The famous magician, who is playing a month's engagement at the Selwyn Theatre, made the patients happy for an hour with his sleight of hand stunts.

Not only did the sick and infirm patients thoroughly enjoy the feats of magic and the breezy talk of Mr. Thurston, but the physicians and nurses also derived unusual pleasure from the numerous acts he performed.

Many of the patients, too ill to sit up, witnessed the performance from their cots, which were wheeled into the hall for the occasion.

Among the hospital staff who helped make the party a success were Dr. J. O. Cobb, commandant; Dr. E. D. Middleton, Dr. James G. McGilleuthy, Dr. John H. Anderson and Miss Catherine E. Welch.

BRIDE MAKES MERRY OVER LOST FIANCE

East Cambridge Girl Starts Dance Party When He Fails to Appear

When her fiance failed to appear for the wedding ceremony in her home Justina Urbanowicz, of No. 118 Webster avenue, East Cambridge, broke the news herself to a houseful of guests, rolled up the parlor rug, sat down to the piano and played jazz tunes that turned the mournful assembly into a lively dancing party.

In a few minutes John Zeremtana, the missing fiance, was forgotten. If he shows up Miss Urbanowicz averred his alibi must be ironclad.

The last Justina saw of John was on the day before when he left her home declaring that he was bound for his bank in Chelsea to withdraw savings for the wedding expenses.

DEAD INFANT IS FOUND IN STATION

What may develop into a murder mystery came to light in South Station when the body of a two months-old boy was found in the ladies' retiring room, wrapped in an old newspaper.

The infant had been dead for several days and Medical Examiner Timothy J. Leary announced that the child may have been strangled.

Boston police are searching for a young girl wearing a white coat trimmed with black monkey fur who is believed to have left the body of the child.

Miss Pauline Collins of Dundee street, Back Bay, matron of the ladies' waiting room, noticed a package lying on the floor of the main waiting room. Her suspicions were aroused and she summoned James J. Shaughnessy, custodian of the station. He opened the bundle and found the body of the child, without clothing of any kind.

VICTIMS' FRIENDS BEAT UP STABBER

It doesn't pay to argue, it leads nowhere, is an old saying, but an argument between Mirezo Marcuci, thirty, residing at No. 33 P. street South Boston and Stephen O. Bentino, thirty-eight, of No. 44 Berlin street, Clinton, led both of them to the Relief Hospital where Marcuci is suffering from a stab wound in the abdomen inflicted by Bentino and the latter is recuperating from various and sundry bruises and abrasions given him by several of Marcuci's friends in a general rough-house that followed the affray. Police are now guarding Bentino at the hospital.

WOMAN GETS 5 YEARS FOR KIDNAPING CHILD

Philadelphia, May 19.—Mrs. Mary Demarzio, who kidnaped 10-weeks-old Corrinne Modell two weeks ago, was sentenced today to two and a half to five years after she had pleaded guilty.

Mrs. Demarzio picked up the child from its coach in front of the Modell home and took it to her home, two police found it the next day. She said at the time that she took the baby to deceive her husband, who wanted a child.

BLANCHE PAUL AND HER BABY IN CELL

MRS. BLANCHE PAUL HAJJAR

Brought back by the police from Michigan, the former wife of Scott W. Paul of Methuen will be arraigned in Suffolk court this week on charges of conspiracy to threaten Victor A. Searles with having committed serious offences. She is now Mrs. Blanche Hajjar and is nursing her three-weeks-old baby in a cell at Charles street jail.

Mrs. Blanche Paul has been brought back from Michigan and will be arraigned this week in Suffolk County Court on a Grand Jury indictment charging her with conspiracy to threaten Victor A. Searles with allegations of several serious offenses.

Mrs. Paul was brought back by Inspector John Mitchell of the Attorney General's office. She gave her address as No. 502 Washington street, Charlotte, Mich., where she is said to have been known as Mrs. Hajjar.

Mrs. Paul is the divorced wife of Scott W. Paul of Methuen. She was indicted with other persons after it is alleged, Searles had been "trapped" with her. Searles subsequently paid $50,000 for alienation of Mrs. Paul's affections, it is stated.

With Mrs. Paul in her cell at Charles street jail is her three-week old son, Richard Alfred. She prepares the baby's food on a special stove in the cell.

The return of Mrs. Paul to Boston was held up because of the expected coming of the youngster.

3 GAS STATIONS IN MEDFORD ROBBED

Thieves, equipped with a sledge-hammer, entered three gasolene filling stations in Medford today and smashed a safe in each place.

Young's garage, at Fulton street and the Fellsway, was entered by a cellar door. Twenty-five dollars was taken. Norton's filling station, in the Wellington section, was entered in the same manner and $50 taken. Tye's filling station, at Main street and Mystic avenue, under an arc light, was also entered. No money was taken.

LEAPS AND ESCAPES RAIDERS

Carries Sash and Glass With Him; 4 Arrested in Two Roxbury Houses

A man, trapped in one of two houses raided in Camden street, Roxbury, today by the police, leaped through a closed window on the second floor, carrying sash and glass away.

Four women and one man were arrested in the two raids. They were Jessie Lewis, Amelia Greene, Beatrice McLean, Letitia Shields and Albert Burse.

Sergt. Ryan and a squad of officers from the Roxbury Crossing station battered down the door in the house at No. 36 Camden street. In the house they found Lewis, Greene and the McLean women and two men.

Police surrounding the house made an attempt to seize the man who leaped through the window, but he was too quick. Regaining his feet he climbed a fence and disappeared. The police in the house arrested Burse, the remaining man, with the women.

At the same time, Sergt. Kerrigan and a squad of police from the same station, battered down the door at No. 28 Camden street with a sledge hammer and arrested Ida Shields, woman, on a charge of keeping a nuisance.

Later, in Roxbury court the three women taken at No. 36 were arraigned before Judge Palmer, charged with being idle and disorderly.

An additional charge was placed against Burse and Beatrice McLean. The cases were continued to June 4.

STANDS BY ACCUSED HUSBAND

Wife of Beham, Held for Robbing Former Boston Singer, Tells Her Story

New York, May 19.—Mrs. Harry Beham declared today that she would live up to the requirements of her marriage vows and do her utmost to save her husband from the consequences of the robbery of Mrs. Howard Johnson, former Boston singer, in the Alamac Hotel.

Mrs. Beham also is indicted as a party to the robbery, on the charge of Mrs. Johnson that she struck her with a blackjack. A thin, wispy bit of blond misery, she told her story huddled on a bench in Jefferson Market Prison. She is five feet two inches tall and weighs about 105 pounds.

"I don't care about myself," he said, "but that girl had no more to do with it than you had. I can prove she left early, angry at me for getting drunk, and that I went after her and caught up to her on the street, where she agreed with me and I finally left her at the St. Andrews Hotel and returned.

PLENTY OF CHANGES.

"There was no idea of robbery when the party started. I had been out with Mrs. Johnson several times when she wore her jewels and had plenty of opportunity to take them."

If Mrs. Beham looks miserable, her husband looks like a wreck. One eye is blackened, his nose is broken and his neck bruised. He was worrying because he had sent his wife a letter and a telegram and hadn't got an answer to either. After being told she was all right he seemed relieved.

Mrs. Beham told this story of what occurred in the Hotel Alamac:

"I had been complaining about my husband's drinking and going out without me, and he finally said if I felt that way I could come along. And I did. He took me to the hotel where Mrs. Johnson and Brent were when we arrived.

"There was so much drinking I got huffed, and, besides, my husband was paying too much attention to Mrs. Johnson. So, believing I was in the way, I left. My husband followed me, but left me at the hotel. That is all I knew until a friend told me he was arrested."

"Look at my arms," Mrs. Beham exclaimed as she displayed two thin, muscleless arms and wrists. "Now, candidly, do you think it possible for me to knock anyone senseless, much less such a big woman as Mrs. Johnson?

"Besides, I never even saw a blackjack, much less held one in my hand. As for money, goodness, we never had more than enough to pay our hotel bills and eat.

"The papers printed the details of my meeting with Mrs. Johnson in the Criminal Courts Building all wrong. This is what occurred:

"I went there when I heard I was wanted. Assistant District Attorney Garrison told me Mrs. Johnson was downstairs and asked if I would see her. I said I would face her, and I did. When she said I had hit her I told her she must have hallucinations, and that is all that was said.

WILL STICK TO HIM.

"I had been in the movies in California—an extra at $7 a day—when I met Harry. I knew he had been in trouble, but did not know all the circumstances and believed he would leave all that behind and start anew. He has always been kind and considerate to me since our wedding.

"I will stick to him, no matter what happens, not altogether through affection, but I am old-fashioned, I guess. I believe in allegiance to the marriage vows to take him 'for better or worse,'" and then Mrs. Beham's voice broke for the first time. But bracing herself, she continued:

"And the papers referred to me as a 'gun moll.' I was always afraid of a gun."

Mrs. Beham is gentle in voice and manner and shows evidence as of education and refinement. Her blond hair is not bobbed but caught at the back in a large coil.

$1,600,000 IS LOSS IN BLAST IN JERSEY

Kearny, N. J., May 19.—The molding and plate shop of the Federal Ship Yards is a complete ruin today, as the result of a tremendous explosion of unknown origin which rocked this section, doing damage to property estimated at $1,600,000.

The blast, which was heard more than five miles away, was followed immediately by fire which destroyed the building and large quantities of expensive machinery and equipment, and for a time threatened to wipe out the entire plant. The fire was confined to the building where the explosion occurred.

The blaze originated in a two-story structure more than a quarter of a mile long and 300 feet wide, where the keel of one vessel had just been laid and where other ships were being repaired. The fire apparatus from Jersey City assisted the local department.

ASKS FURTHER WAGE CUT ON N. Y. RAILWAY

New York, May 19.—Frank Hedley, president and general manager of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, today made another request to the company's employes to accept five per cent wage reduction.

Mr. Hedley says the earnings of the company are "not enough to meet the expenses and interest borrowed monthly."

It is set forth that with the proposed reduction in effect the wages paid the men would be in advance of the cost of living and would amount to more than the average paid in cities where a higher fare prevails. The men have not yet made known their decision on the first request.

Body of Slain Man Dug Up

Mount Kisco, N. Y., May 19.—The body of a man who had apparently been murdered was dug up today from a shallow grave near here. There was a bullet hole in the head and two through the trunk. Papers indicated the man was Vincent Perrola of New York City.

Tot Saved by Blood Injection Directly Into Heart

San Francisco, May 19 (By Universal Service).—Details of a remarkable operation were made known today at the University of California Hospital here in an announcement that the life of a new-born child was saved by the injection of its father's blood directly into the heart after doctors had feared the child would bleed to death.

The usual method of transfusion into the veins was tried, but this failed to stop the bleeding which started at birth and became so excessive that the infant's veins collapsed, making further transfusion impossible.

Death for the child seemed certain when it was decided to administer the father's life fluid by hypodermic needle into the tot's heart.

Today, hospital authorities said the child was fully recovered and strong.

CAUGHT IN PIER, STEAMER GOES TO BOTTOM

The steamer Catherine, owned by the Dion Steamship Company, sank today at the edge of T wharf. No one was aboard. The vessel was used last summer as a pleasure steamer between Boston and Gloucester. In some manner the guard rail of the vessel caught on the top plank of the wharf. This tipped the ship up until the water poured in over the rail. She was being reconditioned for summer use. She is 115 long.

REFUSED TO WED, WAS SLASHED

Was Pursued for Months and Threatened, Says Girl Playing in R. I.

Providence, May 19.—Miss Mabel Bilger, vaudeville actress, who was slashed with a razor across the face by a man who sprang upon her as she was walking with her sister, told Captain John F. Gilchrist of the Woonsocket police that her assailant has followed her doggedly for several months into every city where she has played, insisting upon her marrying him and threatening violence.

Acting upon information furnished him by the young woman, Captain Gilchrist at once communicated with police in several New England cities and hopes soon to capture the culprit. He is said to have a criminal record in New York, and to be known to the police of Boston, Springfield and New London.

At the American Hotel in New York City, somewhat more than two months ago, Miss Bilger told Captain Gilchrist, the man first urged her to marry him, and she refused because she was afraid of him. She left New York for Boston with her troupe, and he followed her there. To Springfield, Waterbury, Bristol, Conn., and New London he pursued her, constantly pleading with her to marry him, until finally her nerves were so unstrung, she said, that she was obliged to take a brief rest at South Norwalk.

THE LIGHT OF OTHER DAYS SHINES 'ROUND FENWAY TODAY

SOX BRING TYGERS HOME

By NICK FLATLEY

Something of the glamor and romance of old baseball days is back at Fenway Park this week. The Tigers are here playing the Red Sox, and the fans are already to march out to the orchard in large and noisy numbers. That's as it should be and used to be.

When the Carrigans were winning pennants and Ty Cobb and the Detroiters came to town, they had to stretch ropes on the grdins to accommodate the extra fans. Every ball park was sold out day after day, and indeed it was not infrequently that in the middle of a double-header the crowd would overflow into the outfield.

The throng that jammed our Saturday to see the Sox take the short end of four from the Chisox was a good indication of what real baseball weather will mean in the way of crowds. The Red Sox are playing winning baseball, and that's all the Boston wants.

The fact that the Sox are playing the right kind of victorious ball helps greatly, also. The club is winning by the force of the lusty bludgeon and that sort of ruthless attack that can never be found in the tight pitcher's battle, or the clever fielded joust.

Any day at all these Red Sox are more likely than not to rap on their respective hind legs and smash some hapless pitcher silly with the great chuckers, as well as the unknowns, get it in the upper vertebrae. The boys play no favorites at all. And their success is startling the league.

They have won ten of their last thirteen starts, a run should keep up something like that average while they're at home anyhow. They're a great home club as has been proved, and the impression of this and with them so far when they get into the West.

Ty Cobb

The Braves, who have been running wild in the West, are falling along the spirit hereabouts wonderfully, and a lot of spiders who have been building Summer homes in the Wigwam partition for several years will have to retreat when the Bancrofts come back here.

All of which reminds us that quite a few nice things might be mentioned of Danny Clark, who plays third base for the Pubs when right handers are shooting at the team. Danny isn't leading the league hitters, or even in the .300 class, but he's probably the most efficient worker in the league just now.

It's a matter of record that seven of Danny's last eight base hits at the Fenway pasture knocked runs in the bases. In five separate cases, victory could be directly attributed to his bludgeon. And we ask, what have averages got to do with clubber like that?

The Tycobbs remain here for four games, and the Indians come in to conclude the week. These Detroiters are seriously dreaming of pennants, though they haven't yet shown enough pitching to seriously worry the Yanks. Still the club has a wonderful kick and is hustling for Mr. Cobb.

Tyrus likes to win in Boston, and with conditions as they are just now, the present series should be the wildest and most thrilling that has been put on in these parts for a long time.

FIRST PICTURE SHOWING BLACK GOLD WINNING DERBY

EPINARD IS 5 TO 4 FAVORITE TODAY

Paris, May 12.—Epinard, Pierre Wertheimer's four-year-old colt by Hainault—Fair will meet Captain Jefferson Davis Cohn's Sir Galahad III in a match race at St. Cloud this afternoon. The colt was sent over the full distance of 8-4 and a half furlongs at the Maisons Laffitte course. Eugene Leigh, trainer of Epinard, sent up the colt two stiff exercises and then had him sent at full speed with a driving finish over the distance which he will race tomorrow. Sir Galahad, which is said to be trained down rather finer than Epinard, was given a light exercise at Chantilly today. Epinard is a 5 to 4 favorite to win the race.

Mrs. R. M. Hoose of Oklahoma whose horse, Black Gold, is from the historic Kennicky Derby. Note the Indian scarf and pain dress of the woman who completed with the dying wish of her husband to develop a derby winner.

Lafayette A. C. Wins, 12-9

The Lafayette A. C. of Boston defeated the St. Joseph's C. C. on the latter's campus, by score of 12 to 9. Pelltier pitching for the winners fanned fifteen men. Clifford starred for the losers with a home run in the ninth.

FIGHTING CARD FOR LYNN TONIGHT

The all-star show which the Casino A. C. of Lynn staged a week ago made such a hit with ring fans that the club will put on another show of the same sort tonight. All kinds of stock, from bantams to heavyweights, will be on hand to make the night another great success.

Young Crosby and Jack O'Brien, a scrapping pair from Lawrence, will settle the lightweight championship of the Woolen City in an eight-round affair. Harris also fans are all heated up over the match and are planning to send quite a delegation to the Lynn ringside.

Jack Farrell of Lynn will meet Leo Barry of Peabody for eight rounds and the tannery-town entry, amateur who has not lost a bout since he stepped into the professional ranks, will have to hustle to keep clean slate. Barry is a hard youngster and will put up a strong fight before he gives in to Barry.

Two dusky heavyweights, Honolulu Kid and Cyclone Harris of Worcester, will meet in a ten-round affair, and the boys who like plenty of socking will get their fill when these two pair off. The Honolulu Kid got his start at the Lynn Club two years ago, and since then has improved wonderfully, beating some of the hardest in the game. He and Harris met each other two years ago in a sensational battle in Lynn, which was stopped in the seventh round after Harris had received a bad cut over one eye.

Georgie Boldue, bantam champion of Maine and Tony Carney of New Bedford are paired in the final bout of ten rounds, and this should prove a whale of a conclusion. Carney has appeared in fifty-four ring fights, bearing such stars as Henry Ford, Charley Baxter, Red Barnet, Larry Baldwin, Johnny Buff, Frankie Fleming, Young Kansas, and Patsy Johnson, and has lost but one fight in his career.

FOHL IS USING STRATEGY OF STALLINGS

FRED C. LANE

Is Manager Les Fohl, new pilot of the Red Sox using the same base ball strategy that caused George Stallings to be named the Miracle Man? Will those constant shifts about third base and right field benefit our hard slugging club?

Lest you forget, back in 1914, the Braves were a talked-of club that could hardly be expected to climb into the first division, early in the season. Somehow or other they got into a winning streak after a bad start and continued in such a mood until they reached the top rung of the ladder and later jumped to even higher places when they grabbed the World Series from the Athletics that year in four straight games.

With that in mind all will remember that Manager Stallings used Bill James, George Tyler and Dick Rudolph as his regular pitchers throughout the grind.

He also had two sets of outfielders who hit well against certain brands of pitching and this sealed the pitching problem according to the opposing pitcher.

MAKES CHANGES AT THIRD AND IN RIGHT FIELD.

It would seem, judging from the changes that Manager Fohl has made about the box corner and right field, that he is carrying out this same principle in some respects. For instance, Ike Boone started off on the right foot banging the New York pitchers for a five-three-walk day, continued right down until the club made it's first trip. He showed signs of slumping close to the return and was replaced by veteran John Collins, who ran still higher in the outfield with the best day of them.

Lynn is a willing worker and does not show his best by means for his sensational chuck. The pitcher has an idea of coming in behind things and is willing to take a chance to get to the ball. If going in first base he has covered that station well over. Then again Johnson, on golf them to the four corners of the lot when a southpaw is working from the up. This is Boone's weakness. That accounts for that shift to a degree.

Regardless, it has proved a boomerang for the hitting strength of the club, the one feature that has put them in the position they now hold.

The constant shifting about the hot corner is causing considerable controversy. Howard Shanks is a better fielder than is Danny Clark but is more consistent and therefore makes a good defensive player.

Clarke, on the other hand, though lacking infielding ability, is a slugger of the old type, and can hand errors in the pinches and win is liable to come through with the batting blow that sends many a club on a batting spree.

DANNY HITS WITH GREAT EFFECTIVENESS

It matters little what sort of hurling is on hand. Homey has slugpasters with the same vim as he does southpaws. You will notice that the performance of the Boston third baseman is not confined to any one class of pitching. Clark will be on the job either for his batting strength alone.

When the situation is reversed Lloyd Shanks will have something them up about that third pillow, and so it goes. Applying his strength where it's most needed regardless whether it be offensive or defensive is Manager Fohl's code.

No. Cambridge Wins, 10-3

Timely hitting enabled North Cambridge to defeat South Boston, 10 to 3, yesterday at Russell Field. The hitting of Bill Cleary of North Cambridge and the fielding of McCarthy of South Boston featured.

YALE AND HARVARD MEET IN TENNIS

At Divinity Field in Cambridge Saturday afternoon, the rival tennis teams of Harvard and Yale will clash in their annual classic duel. Both teams are playing good tennis this season and rank with Columbia as two of the three leading college teams in the East.

Harvard will be represented in the inspective match of the year by Ingraham, Captain Karl Pfaffman, Alden Hedges of Brookline High school fame, Palmer Dixon, the State squash champion, Bill Cummings and Carroll Barrington. Yale will counter with Arnold Jones, Jim Bibb, Jack Schoonmaker, Sheridan Foster and Hubbell.

EAGLE SHOULD CAPTURE N. E. INTERCOLLEGIATES

Judging from track performances over the week end, Boston College should have little difficulty in annexing this year's New England intercollegiates to be held at Tech Field, Cambridge, Friday and Saturday. Bowdoin, last years winner, will probably finish second.

Bowdoin took the 1923 honors with a total of 29½ points, but Fred Tootell, the Maine iron man, scored 13 of these all by his lonesome. Tech, which finished second last Spring, is weak this year, as the recent triangular meet with Georgetown and the Army showed. Tech was only able to garner 22 points at West Point.

Maine, Williams, Colby, Bates, Holy Cross, Brown, Wesleyan and Amherst are also strong this year, and must be seriously considered in the final reckoning of points. Holy Cross, however, was completely outclassed Saturday when Coach Jack Ryder's proteges swamped the Purple runners 86½ to 39½. Maine, Colby and Bates were defeated in the annual all-Maine Intercollegiates which Bowdoin took for the fifth consecutive year. Bowdoin's strength in the hurdles and the high jump spelled victory.

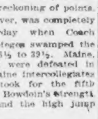
Tom Cavanaugh

TWENTY COLLEGES TO TAKE PART.

In this week's get-together of twenty college teams, Williams, fresh from an 111-24 victory over Rensselaer, will put forward a strong front in the sprints. Mill ler took first in the 100 and second in the 220 last year, while Bedford finished third in both events. These men will face strong competition in Hoxie of Tech, Mittelsdorf of Colby, J. J. Sullivan of B. C., Buncker of Wesleyan and Reid of Brown.

Mittelsdorf took Saturday's event in 22 seconds flat, while Sullivan of B. C. turned in a 10 second performance against Holy Cross. Sullivan was the feature of the Penn Relay carnival in his race with the English champion, Littell.

Tierney, who ran third in 1923 may give place to his Purple teammate Mulvehill in the 440, who did the distance in 50 flat Saturday. Archibald of Bates turned in a 50 second performance in the all-Maine meet, and added to Jepse of Tech, and Dillon of B. C. should make the going hard for the Holy Cross pair.



Joe Tierney

B. C. EXPECTS TO WIN TRACK EVENTS.

B. C. expects to take the lead in the running events. The Eagles are certain to take firsts in the half, the one and two miles. Bill Mc Killop, Pat Mahoney and Louis Welch, three of the quartet which broke the world's relay record, will start in the half-mile affair, against Foster of Bowdoin. Louis Welch and Pat Mahoney of Williams Mahoney finished third to these two runners last year.

SPORTING AMERICAN

All Up for the Nationals
With 210 boxers entered, there will be an abundance of thrills at the national boxing championships at the Boston Arena this week.

Sheppard Begins Training
Johnny Sheppard of Woburn has started to get into condition for his bout with Bantamweight Champion Abe Attell Goldstein at the Suffolk A. A. next Monday night.

210 AMATEUR BOXERS READY FOR OPENING OF TITLE SHOW

LOOK FOR BRILLIANT BATTLE

Sixteen heavyweights will fight tonight for the honor of wearing the Stars and Stripes in the Olympic games at Paris next month. The title will be decided tonight according to an 11th hour ruling of the A. A. U.

The national championship in the 112-pound class also will be decided tonight at the Boston Arena in the first night's bouts of the three nights' tournament.

With two titles to be determined here in the first night's fighting which is a new idea, the fans who turn out will see, for the first time, two titles decided on the first night.

It also has been decided that the championships in the 118 and 175 pound classes will be decided Tuesday night, with the four remaining titles to be decided the last night of the tourney.

Capt. Charles J Mabbutt, who had full charge of the athletics in the American expeditionary forces in France, arrived in Boston yesterday with eight army boxers who were selected from 250 entrants after trials which took three months.

FULL-BLOODED INDIAN IN HEAVY CLASS.

The Army team boasts the greatest heavyweight in the history of boxing among the khaki-clad boys. The heavyweight is a full blooded Indian of the Chickaboo tribe from North Michigan. He is Sergeant Lester Mavis, who worked out yesterday at the Army Base.

The other members of the Army team which arrived in Boston yesterday include 112 lbs., Corporal Walter D. Tullock, 118 lbs., Private Floyd Deacone, 126 lbs., Private Phillip Woods, 136 lbs., Corporal Sam Parti, 147 lbs., Corporal Peniee Baker, 160 lbs., Corp Faulk Finch; 175 lbs., Corporal Charles Jared.

The weighing-in will start at 2 o'clock today, and the opening bout in the 112-lbs. class will go into the ring at 8 p.m. The early start is imperative on account of the fact that there are 256 entries in the eight classes.

This means that there will be 512 fights.

Plenty of choice seats for the tournament can still be procured at the downtown office of the A. A. A. at popular prices at Room S. 33 Bchol street.

Boxing Notes

Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo's crack lightweight, is booked up for three important battles. Tonight he fights Roy Mitchell of "Philly" for ten rounds at Philadelphia. Friday night he tackles Young Manty of New England for ten rounds, while on May 30 he will journey to Scranton, Pa., where he meets Bobby Tracey for ten rounds.

Leo Flynn, manager of numerous fighters, denies that he was ever offered a guarantee of $12,500 by Tex Rickard for Jack Renault, the Canadian heavyweight, to battle George Godfrey, the negro heavyweight, in a contest at the Arena A. C. of Philadelphia.

The ten-round bout between Bobby Burns of Detroit, Mich., and Young Stribling of Macon, Ga., which was recently fought at Toronto, Canada, and was won by Stribling, drew a great crowd of fight fans, the gate receipts amounting to approximately $10,000. Stribling drew down a guarantee of $2,500 and Burns received $1,000 and $100 for training expenses.

WOONSOCKET PROS DEFEAT ROXBURY C. C.

Woonsocket, R. I.—The Roxbury Catholic Club was defeated by the Woonsocket Pros at Clinton Oval in one of the best games seen here this season by the score of 3 to 1. "Ray" Mawn, Roxbury's star twirler, allowed but five hits, but a bad break in the 8th inning helped the home team to win. Harper for Woonsocket was nicked for five hits, but passed four men.

Batteries, Roxbury—H. Mawn and J. Walsh; Woonsocket—Harper and Duplis.

LEXINGTON TENNIS TEAM PLAYS TODAY

The Lexington High School boys' tennis will open its season this afternoon, playing the Woburn High School racket wielders, on the Lexington Playground Courts. SHEPPARD OFF TO HEALTH FARM

Paddy Minehan is to leave no stone unturned in getting Johnny Sheppard in shape for his clash with Abe Attel Goldstein, which the Suffolk A. A. is putting on at Mechanics Building, Monday evening, May 26. The Irish bantam title seeker from Woburn has been sent to Martin Flaherty's health farm, outside of Lowell, where he will be carefully prepared for his clash with the world's champion.

Everybody for miles around Woburn is hot up over the Sheppard-Goldstein clash, and that is another reason why Paddy wants his challenger to get away to finish his training.

"If Johnny were allowed to stay in Woburn this week, he would be pestered to death by well-meaning friends desiring to tell him how to battle the champ."

The Suffolk A. A. has made arrangements to have 2,500 tickets on sale at different section of Woburn.

NEW STARS TO RIDE AT REVERE TRACK

Two more new faces will be introduced to the cycling fans in the paced race at the Revere track, Saturday night. The riders making their debut are Pasquale Valentini of Italy and Marcel Godivier, a son of sunny France.

Rated in their respective countries as pace followers of the first water, the pair will encounter stiff competition in their opening race. Manager Butler has chosen Clarence Carman, American star, and Henri Vynedan, of Belgium to furnish the competition. The quartet will race over the 50 mile route.

An added feature will be a three heat sprint race between Lloyd Thomas of San Francisco and Frank Bartel of Providence. This event will be run best two out of three.

LEXINGTON CLASHES WITH ARLINGTON

The Lexington High School baseball team will play the return game with its greatest rival, the Arlington High School nine, on the Lexington Playground diamond, Wednesday afternoon. Arlington won the first game from Lexington, at Arlington, and so naturally the home team is more than anxious to take the count of its ancient rival. The Lexington nine goes to Reading next Friday afternoon to play a Middlesex Interscholastic League fray with the Reading High School team.

THREE GAMES BOOKED FOR CONCORD HIGH

The Concord High School baseball team will have a busy week on the diamond with no less than three games booked. It goes to Natick on Wednesday afternoon to play the Natick High School team. Concord will have its first home game for several weeks on Friday when it takes on the Belmont High School nine on the Concord Centre Playground. Then on Saturday afternoon Concord plays the Saugus High School team at Saugus.

Fall River Ties New York

New York, May 19.—Fall River battled to a scoreless tie with the New York soccer club here in which New York did most of the threatening. In the other game of a double header program, the Brooklyn Wanderers trimmed the National Giants of New York, 3 to 1. Moss and Molson scored.

TOM GIBBONS IS WORKING HARD FOR GEORGES

By H. C. HAMILTON

Brandbeach, Mich., May 19.—Tom Gibbons is training for his forthcoming bout with Georges Carpentier, the Greek god from France, on an 800-acre estate which boasts of a ski jump terraced beach fronting on Lake Michigan, a golf course and a lot of oak and pine trees.

Tom Gibbons

Tom is not doing any ski jumping but as originator of the "Gold Coast Training Camp," he certainly is going over big.

A few miles off Georges the gourmand is getting in his licks. He is being forced to put up with a huge cottage, built for another millionaire, a lot of trees, silence, fresh air and beach, and access to Tom Gibbons' golf course.

Georges himself may always be counted upon to put a little of the spectacular into whatever he does. Back in our United States and the present fighting days with the St. Paul fighter is no exception.

At no time in the history of million-dollar fights has there ever been a training camp to compare with this one.

The South Boston Independents challenge any of the 14-15 year-old teams in Greater Boston. Write to Frank Perlmutter, No. 322 West Ninth street, South Boston.

VAN TO STAR AS BASEBALL BROADCASTER

When Billy B. Van, the famous comedian, broadcasts through Station WEAC The Leopard Stores, the first big pay report of the Harvard-Williams and Harvard-Amherst games on Tuesday and Thursday of this week, a treat is in store not only for baseball fans but for all who listen in.

Billy B. Van will sit right in the press box of the press stand at [illegible] Cambridge and will deliver into the microphone not only the details of the game as they happen [illegible] such spontaneous comedy and many of his well known Vanisms. John B. Gilleely ("Gill"), Sporting Editor of the Boston American, will sit beside him at Billy Van's request to keep him posted on the names of the players, etc.

Billy B. Van is out to prove he is as good before the microphone as on the stage, and you know what a hit he makes in the various shows in which he comes to Boston. At present he is playing the part of a radio enthusiast in "The Dream Girl" at the Shubert-Wilbur Theatre, so he is right at home at anything connected with radio.

The baseball games are scheduled for 4 p.m. and the broadcast will start at 3:45 p.m. both on Tuesday and Thursday—the first fifteen minutes being used for comments on the crowd, batting orders, etc.

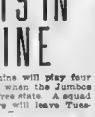
St. Andrews Defeat Silesia

North Chelmsford, May 18—The effective pitching of Dominick Murrennan enabled St. Andrews of the Twilight league to defeat Silesia Mills here today, 4 to 1. Faulkner's home run was a feature of the game.

FOUR GAMES FOR TUFTS IN MAINE

Tufts varsity nine will play four games this week when the Jumbos invade the Pine Tree state. A squad of sixteen players will leave Tuesday night for Maine and the team is scheduled to be back in Medford on Sunday.

At Lewiston on Wednesday Tufts plays Bates, Colby and Tufts meet at Waterville on the following day. On Friday, the University of Maine nine will act as host to the Medford aggregation at Orono, while Bowdoin tackles the Medford ball tossers Saturday at Brunswick.



Fred Lake

It will be a busy week for the Brown and Blue pitching staff. Art Kantari will start against Bates in the opening game of the four-day tour. Bob Hunter is listed to do the mound honors the next day when Colby and Tufts clash.

Wilfred Morris, a new addition to the Medford college pitching staff, will start on the mound against Maine while "Red" Tillinghast, a speedy southpaw, is likely to face the Brunswick collegians in the final game of the week.

The Dorchester Town team have invited the Kelly All Stars from South Boston to be their opponents tonight on the Doherty Playgrounds, Fields Corner, Dorchester. Manager Kendricks is more than doing his share to give the Dorchester folks plenty of baseball action, with the best attractions in New England. Game will start promptly at 6 o'clock.

On May 2nd we sent this wire to every one of our salesmen throughout the country.

What's back of this big shift? Why are men changing by thousands?

Note—If you have not read the telegram above, please glance through it.

Looking out from behind the scenes

BIG EVENTS happen rarely in the cigarette business—yes.

But if today you were "behind the scenes," you could sit and watch a thing going on that—in a mild way perhaps—might open any man's eyes.

He might chance to notice that Smith has changed to another cigarette. Or, sitting with a group, it might occur to him that three or four of them have "switched"—quite lately.

No—there's nothing spectacular about it.

But when every small brook starts to rise, there's a big flood in the river—and "flood" is exactly the word to describe this thing we are talking about.

What is it that is happening?

The thing that is happening is simply that, for months now, an average of over one thousand men EVERY DAY in this country (1,000 every day—think of it!) are changing from other cigarettes to Chesterfield.

• • •

Is cigarette taste changing? We don't know. But we do know that smokers are changing—over 150,000 have changed to Chesterfield since New Year's Day.

Nothing to get excited about, of course; but not a thing quite to ignore either—if you are interested in "what's what" in smoking.

Why are these men changing? Is it Chesterfield's exceptional tobaccos, the fortunate blend, the unusual freedom from "sweetening," or what? Perhaps you don't care.

Perhaps the only thing you care about is "How do they TASTE?" All right. When it comes to that, Chesterfields—if you give them the chance—will tell their own story (and prove it!) in a far better way than we can.

Such popularity must be deserved

Anaconda at New Low in Dull and Rather Heavy New York Stock Market

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

What encouraging features of the business outlook can be discerned?

Doleful, depressing news and views have become so common that, instead of rehashing them here, it may be more helpful to examine the more cheerful prospects.

* * *

Asked what he thought of a certain stock, a man once replied: "I don't see anything to put it up, except its excellent earnings."

One feels inclined today when asked about business, to reply: "I don't see anything to bring about improvement, except excellent consumption."

* * *

Now, just as earnings alone can put up and keep up the price of a stock, so consumption is the only thing that can bring about and maintain good business.

* * *

You doubtless have heard and read of announcements expressed over the enormous volume of freight being carried by our railroads; also, over the enormous increase in the sale of mail order houses. What is the explanation?

* * *

The explanation simply is that consumption in this country is today probably the heaviest ever known.

* * *

Why should this be so?

I would answer that by asking, Why shouldn't it be so?

Please remember that the purchasing power of the great mass of American wage earners is at this moment perhaps the greatest ever enjoyed.

* * *

You hear a lot about what has happened in the automobile industry. Well, what has happened?

Caught with a shortage of cars last Spring, manufacturers this year were determined not to suffer a similar experience. Therefore, they went ahead at full speed producing cars during the Winter months. A backward Spring has delayed the expected rush for cars. But what you heard and read most about is not that any tremendous drop has occurred in sales, but that production has been reduced. It is by no means certain that the next few months will not bring very satisfactory buying of cars and full recovery in production. Motor manufacturers, however, like factories and merchants over all the country, are playing safe.

* * *

As a matter of fact, what is happening in, say, the steel industry, is simply another illustration of play safe. Accumulations of production unquestionably have been sharper than curtailment in consumption.

* * *

Why all this extreme caution?

For the greater part of the answer, not to Washington, where things there have been disappointing, not to say disgusting. Instead of following a policy of reward, the politicians have reveled in trotting out bill after bill aimed directly at your pocket and mine.

We had counted upon substantial tax relief. Instead, only President Coolidge's veto power stood between us and a grave national deficit. The reckless disregard of the public will by the politicians has, more than anything else, caused business and financial leaders to adopt a policy of extreme caution.

* * *

Then, of course, the Presidential convention is drawing at hand, and the natural disposition is to await developments.

But is there not room for an optimistic view of even these matters?

May not public opinion become sufficiently powerful to compel Congress to grant a reasonable measure of tax relief?

My own humble opinion is that uncertainty over the outcome of the November elections will decrease rather than increase as time passes.

Nothing has happened in Europe to indicate that a settlement will not be reached, a responsible nation there cares to contemplate any alternative.

* * *

Perhaps it would have been easier for me to join the chorus of pessimists if I had not lately covered so large a part of our glorious country and seen with my own eyes something of its incomprehensible resources, its almost universal prosperity, its outstanding, healthy, vigorous, confident people.

* * *

If, possessing what we do, we cannot maintain satisfactory business conditions, then we don't deserve to enjoy satisfactory conditions.

U. S. STEEL OFF OVER A POINT AT START

Anaconda was sold off to a fresh bottom since 1919 in a dull and rather heavy New York stock market. Call money ruled at 3 per cent. U. S. Steel sold off over a point in the first hour, but rallied well later, leading the rest of the market in a feeble comeback.

National Enamelling, Congoleum Stewart-Warner Speedometer, Studebaker and Wickwire-Spencer all sold at 1924 lows. New Orleans, Texas & Mexico and Western Pacific sold at new tops for the year, the former up 2.

Concentrated pressure was directed against Studebaker in the first hour in an effort to start general selling in industrial list. While the bears' principal target was forced into new low points, this movement proved unavailing against the market as a whole, which settled into an apthetic state.

Coppers were still heavy. Copper metal prices continue to decline in the face of decreasing surplus stocks. Available copper figures, however, do not represent one month's consumption. The Street naturally believes that the copper situation basically is not as strong as promotion and consumption figures indicate. Traders ask why coppers continue to decline on surplus stocks are lower than they have been in years. No explanation from big producers has been forthcoming.

Bond loans for the week were registered in Boston when Ventura Consolidated sagged another half point to 23, and when Swift & Co. duplicated this decline to 100¾, also by the recording of a ¾-point loss in Calumet & Hecla to a new low. The early pressure of over-production in sales of Elder Manufacturing common from 4¾ to 3, selling for the first time since last Wednesday subject to inventory item changes the company is expected to show net of more than $50,000 in the year ended April 30 against $1,000,000 with approximately $42,000 net surplus in 1923 and with a final loss of $178,000 in 1922.

Speculative Rail Bonds ..... Under Selling Pressure

In the New York bond market application of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville railway to sell a new $1,600,000 bond issue was reflected in an advance in the road's six per cent bonds. Standard Gas Convertible's 6½s moved up briskly after publication of a favorable earnings statement. Erie, St. Paul and other speculative rail mortgages encountered selling pressure, while a number of industrials declined with the reaction in stock prices.

Wall St. Gossip

STANDARD Gas & Electric net earnings before depreciation for year ending March 31 were $19,532,056, against $16,722,823 in previous year.

ERIE reports for first 1924 quarter surplus of $4,176,787, excluding earnings of Chicago & Erie, as compared with a surplus of $1,354,278 in first quarter of 1923.

RAILROADS of country had 11,440 locomotives in need of repair on May 1, decrease of 704 since April 15.

BROWN SHOE Company, Inc., reports net profits of $249,219 for the six months ended April 30.

Charity begins at home—read the "Helping Hand" at home tonight and you can begin to help tomorrow.

Here's How ONE Man Starts

That's the Way for YOU to Start, Mentally or Physically, If You WANT to WIN

This shows Herman Phillips, a young Frenchman at Butler College, Indianapolis, who defeated the great sprinter Joie Ray, starting in a race.

TO WIN AT ANYTHING YOU HAVE GOT TO TRY.

The harder you try, the more vigor and determination you put into your start, the better your chance of winning. Every boy knows that when the young man in this picture starts, he may settle and win the race at the very first step. If he can get away a tenth of a second ahead of the other men, that means a yard gained, and a yard gained often means winning the race.

Young gentlemen that read this newspaper are intelligent, young women also, and it isn't necessary to preach them any long sermons.

This is just to let them all see that this college boy wins his races, and defeats the great Joie Ray, because he gives to the thing on which his mind is concentrated, EVERYTHING THAT IS IN HIM.

Look at the muscles of his arms and legs, the clenched fists, mouth set tight. Every inch of that body says "I AM GOING TO WIN." And it DOES win.

What applies to the body applies to the brain. The man that rules others, hires thousands of others and dictates, often, the nation's policies and laws, is the man who in his youth started his MENTAL RACE as the boy in this picture starts his PHYSICAL sprint. You would laugh at a young athlete, if you saw him dozing on the starting line, and leaving it, dawdling at his leisure. You would laugh even more if you heard him say, as millions of young gentleman say to each other at their work, "I am not going to kill myself."

If a young racer said to himself, "I am not going to kill myself," you would say to him instantly, "You had better TRY to kill yourself running fast. If you don't you will never be any kind of a racer."

This newspaper says to young gentlemen and others that want to win in life's race, no matter what their kind of a race is, "If you dawdle at the start in the morning and leisurely proceed through the day, you are as much of a joke as a hundred-yard sprinter would be if he turned around and went backward."

To amount to anything, you mustn't say, "I don't intend to kill myself." That remark is for fools. For those that in advance are branded FAILURES.

You can't kill yourself WORKING, don't worry. And if you WORK as this man RUNS, you will be known as this man is known, AS A WINNER.

The only way to win in a race is to run HARD. The only way to win in the race of life is to WORK hard. If you have not tried that recipe, try it. You'll be surprised at the results.

Not Rumors, Mr. President

Cold, Unpleasant Facts

Cyrus H. K. Curtis, careful about news, publishes a statement that President Coolidge "doesn't believe the rumor that there is anything the matter with our navy."

He needn't believe rumors, because there are no RUMORS involved. But there are FACTS that must interest the President. The United States is inferior to England and even to Japan in its fighting battle fleet. That doesn't matter so much, because iron boats that float on the water, and that one bomb from an airplane can sink, soon will be a complete joke.

We are absolutely inferior to Japan and England in SUBMARINES. Both those countries have battleships with big guns that can go below the water, rise up in any one of our harbors and blow any of our cities to pieces. THAT should interest the President.

And the President must be interested in facts that he reads about d'Oisy, the courageous, able Frenchman, flying on his way from Paris to Tokio. He has made the trip from Paris to Calcutta, more than 6,000 miles, in less than fifty-two flying hours.

That means that the French know how to build flying machines that really fly and keep on flying. They have more than two thousand of them. They could declare war against England tomorrow and destroy London three hours later. The English know it and that makes them very polite.

France won't attack us. But if a FRENCHMAN can fly from Paris to Calcutta, in Asia, six thousand miles, in less than fifty-two hours of actual flying, how long will it be before Asiatics are able to come across the Pacific to the United States in forty-eight hours?

The President has no business more important than seeing to the preparation of this country against war. For there is more war coming.

And he is the one man RESPONSIBLE, the one that could offer no excuse. His business is to PREPARE, not to theorize.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

MAN was once a savage and expressed himself in woman only in grunts and dumb signs.

* * *

Now he is civilized and goes as far as monosyllables, sniffs, swear words and baby talk.

* * *

It is a feat to get him to TALK, even before marriage. He may babble in "Gold" "Radio" or "Via Jong," but he would sooner be asked to recite a poem in Choctaw than to tell a girl he loves her in plain English.

Helen Rowland

* * *

Of course, a woman always knows that a man loves her long before HE knows it; but that doesn't prevent her from yearning for a bona fide proposal and a little audible lovemaking.

* * *

No married woman will ever tell you what her husband said when he proposed to her; because usually she can't remember that he said anything.

* * *

It is only on the stage that lovers say, "Will you marry him?" In real life they are much more likely to mutter, "Oh, you know what I mean! Can't you see what I'm trying to say?" And that's as far as they get.

* * *

In order to extract a really beautiful proposal of marriage from a man, you have to write it out and make him say it over after you.

* * *

But if he can express it all in a kiss, and escape the WORDS, he feels like one who has succeeded in crossing Broadway at the rush hour without being hit by a motor car.

* * *

And many a man has kissed a girl whom he had not the least desire to kiss, just because that was easier than trying to think up something to SAY to her.

* * *

After marriage, of course, a man seldom opens his mouth, except to put food into it or to ask why dinner isn't ready.

* * *

The only way in which a wife can discover how much her husband really thinks of her, is to come back and read it on her tombstone.

* * *

A little flattery would often save a man a lot of alimony; but he'd rather pay in cash than in personal effort and the sacrifice of words.

* * *

Presence of words in a man always denotes absence of love; he never becomes eloquent except when he doesn't mean anything.

And if you must hear a man talk, you can always ask him to give you a little ADVICE! That will turn the most taciturn man from a Sphinx into a phonograph!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

THERE is an island bright and fair, and every breeze that wanders there the whole glad day brings perfume, warmth and melody, brings songs of sun-kissed shore and sea and hints of May. I know just where this island lies, beneath what tranquil sapphire skies, what tropic breezes I know from long and long ago how crystal clear its waters flow, how green its dyes. I know what stars shine down by night from their serene, unclouded height, what planets smile and with their ancient, changeless gaze send gladness down the flower-strewn ways of that fair isle. But here, smoke wreaths and shadows lie, and here cold hearts go hasting by; no note shore and sea and hints of May. of song from any merry, fostered throats through clouded, dust-grimed highway floats the whole day long. You ask me why I linger here; have you not guessed the answer, dear? I do not care for any earthly Paradise of smiling waters, tranquil skies, with you not there!

Needy Mother Asks Help

Editor Helping Hand:

My husband enlisted in U. S. Service six years ago and I cannot get any trace whatsoever of his whereabouts. I am twenty-seven years old and have two children. I have been working in the mill for their support, but now the mill is shut down and I only work three days and sometimes two. I find it very hard to get along, trying to keep up insurance on myself and children. I can't dress them properly for school and other children jeer at them. My boy is six and my girl eight. Will appreciate anything in line of clothing or shoes, size 11½ or 12. Thanking you not only for your kindness to myself but for all other needy mothers as they all have my heartfelt sympathy.

MRS. C. J.

Baby Carriage Offered

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a baby carriage to give to anyone who is in need of one.

O. W. D.

Thank you. We have asked M. R., the father of six children, of whom the oldest is only six and a half, to call for the carriage.

Needs Cloth for Sickroom

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if anyone has some pieces of white cotton cloth such as could be used by a sick person and burned afterwards? I would gladly pay postal charges and would sterilize them. It seems to be almost impossible to get enough.

MRS. E. A. P.

Has Baby Clothes to Give

Editor Helping Hand:

Please give me the name of some expectant mother as I have some baby clothes my little one has outgrown. They are some mended but will give good service yet.

MRS. H. G.

Thank you. We always have more calls for infants' clothes than we can fill. We are sending the address of Mrs. J. R., who is expecting the stork next month.

Helping Hand Sends $5

Editor Helping Hand:

It is Saturday night and things are so bad I am almost crazy. Now that baby has come and is a few weeks old and doing very well, I can safely leave her at home with my oldest girl and go to work. So Monday I have a job in the shoe factory for fifteen dollars a week and my husband who has been sick for months and months also has work. Neither of us can get any money for two weeks and in the meantime what can we do? All winter we have lived from hand to mouth, buying at stores that do not give credit and so am not known well enough at any store to get groceries and pay later. I will need just two bottles of liquid food for the baby until I

DR. FRANK CRANE ON PHILIPINE FACTS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE Philippines are 7,083 islands off the coast of Asia, almost straight west from Guatemala, in Central America.

There are 11,000,000 Filipinos.

Sixty per cent. can read and write.

They are Malays and about 800,000 are non-Christian.

Their import and export business in 1920 amounted to $300,000,000.

They were taken over by the United States at the close of the war with Spain. We paid good money for them. Since then their government has been controlled by the United States, at least in part. We have promised them independence when they are ready for it.

At present they elect their own national Legislature which, like ours, has two houses and decides about budgets. They are already self-governing in about 95 per cent. of their actions.

They have paid all the costs of their civil government from local taxes since 1901.

Up to 1902 they had cost us $170,000,000.

Their chief executive, however, is not chosen by themselves, but by the President of the United States. He is called the Governor-General and can veto the acts of their Legislature. They are not free to make treaties with other nations, to tax our goods, or to make their own Constitution. What their rights are depends upon what we want to give them.

There is a movement on foot, both there and here, to secure their independence. The reasons why they want independence are, as they allege, that the Filipinos themselves desire it, that the United States has promised it, that they have established a stable government and are maintaining it, that there is no danger of foreign aggression, that long distance government is unsatisfactory and that, much as they love America, they love Freedom more.

On the other hand, President Coolidge, on March 5th, wrote to Manuel Roxas, head of the special mission from the Philippines, which is over here trying to get independence, and expressed the following opinion:

That many Filipinos themselves believe that independence now would be a misfortune, that a majority of Americans want further delay, that the welfare of the Filipinos is improved by this delay, that they could not afford an army, navy and diplomatic service, that they might lose their independence if we withdrew our support and some other nation gobbled them up, that their dissatisfaction with General Wood is unfounded and shows unpreparedness for the full obligations of citizenship and, finally, that it would be unfair to civilization now, when the world is in a state of high tension and unsettlement, for us to leave the Philippines to possible economic and political disorder.

This is only the President's opinion; Congress must finally decide the question and may disagree with him.

Advocates of both sides of the question are undoubtedly sincere and have the welfare of the Filipinos and of the human race at heart. It is a matter to be decided by good judgment and not by passion, denunciation and revolution.

The above points are recommended for debate by high school pupils as good practice in politics. The pupils will probably know as much about it and think as intelligently as statesmen.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON MYSTERIOUS CLOUDS

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

AS our good ship, the Earth, goes plodding through the invisible wastes of the great ocean of space, in company with the flagship, the Sun, astronomers keep watch from her masthead; but, keen-eyed though they be, little attention is sometimes distracted from obvious objects lying in the boundless offing of the Universe.

This seems to be the case with regard to certain "cosmic clouds," which Father Hagen, of the Vatican Observatory in Rome has been studying during a few years past, and interest in which is reawakened by what Director Plaskett, at the Victoria, B. C., Observatory, has more recently announced concerning vast clouds of sodium and calcium vapors which he thinks are lying all about us in open space, as if we were voyaging through a "sargasso sea" of nebulae.

None of these clouds of metallic vapor are at present near the solar system, but it seems evident that other suns than ours are involved in, or veiled behind, some of them; and since our system is traveling between three and four hundred millions miles per year, and the enigmatical clouds are scattered broadcast through interstellar space the question presents itself whether the earth is not likely at some time, to become involved, together with the sun, in one of these diffuse masses, as in a cosmic fog.

A curious, not to say improbable, thing about the strange clouds is that, while all the stars are in motion in various directions, these objects seem to remain fixed in space—at least that is Director Plaskett's conclusion. One of the phenomena that led to their detection was the existence in the light of certain stars of the lines of calcium vapor, notwithstanding the fact that the characteristic spectrum of those stars excludes the possibility of the presence of calcium in their atmospheres. Besides, the calcium lines thus seen gave evidence that the vapor whose absorption produced them was at rest with respect to the stars, while the latter often showed rapid motion.

In some cases it is probable that the clouds only happen to lie in the line of sight between the earth and the stars which show the unexpected spectral lines; in other cases, it would appear, the affected stars are actually immersed in an alien cloud of calcium or sodium. Why it should be these particular elements only that lie like a misty network in the deeps of space is a question to be studied. If the masses really are motionless, with regard to the stars, then it would seem they must belong to a primeval groundwork underlying the starry universe, and out of which by some evolutionary process, the stars are created.

There is some connections between the diffused clouds, only indirectly detectable, and the shining nebulae, which telescopes and photographs reveal in abundance. Father Hagen's idea is that the faint luminous clouds of extraordinary appearance seen close around groups of stars like the Pleiades and the "trapezium stars" in Orion do not shine by any light of their own, but merely by reflected light from the nearby stars. He also thinks that the original material from which stars are created consists of these diffused cosmic clouds, the composition of which he does not assume to be confined to sodium and calcium.

It is affirmed that when the observer is habituated to the detection of the cosmic clouds he can find them everywhere in the heavens, their presence being betrayed by the manner in which they dim the light of stars behind them. In the Milky Way some of the dark objects photographed by the late E. E. Barnard are veritably coure in their nondescript forms, and as black as ink.

A most interesting reflection concerning these clouds is that almost unimaginable consequences might be the result if the sun and the earth should become involved in one of them.
